The Result in the State.

Elsewhere we give the official vote of the State for Supreme Judge, by which it will be seen that Judge Sharswood has a majority of 922 over Judge Williams, and not 1,202 as given by some of the city papers on Saturday. Perry county is entitled to the banner, having increased its majority from 86 for Geary to 135 for Williams. Dauphin county and one or two others made an increase, but not in proportion to that of Perry. The entire falling off of the vote in the State is 62,800, of which 40,450 votes were Republicans and 22,350 Democratic.

IT HAS been said that business in San Francisco was bad. A cotemporary of that city shows that the statement is a mistake. In August the merchandise sold at auction amounted to $727,000; the sales by wholesale liquor dealers amounted to over one million dollars; and the sales by other wholesale dealers reached a total of five millions four hundred and eighty-six thousand dollars. In addition to this, we have the sales by manufacturers of their own productions, the figures of which would astonish even the most credulous. For example, there were 9,118 barrels of beer sold from the breweries; 54,140 gallons of spirits sold from the distilleries; and glassware to the value of $18,400 sold from the factory. The sugar refiners have disposed of their own products, to the amount of $186,773, and the woolen mills to the amount of $63,215. The number of cigars manufactured and sold from the factories reached the enormous sum of 4,265,642, which at a uniform tax of $5 per thousand, yields a revenue of $21,328. The total amount of Federal taxes assessed in San Francisco for the month of August was $421,643, payable in currency.

[From the Financial Chronicle.]

The Value of Breadstuffs.

The comparative firmness of the breadstuffs market, after a harvest of such great abundance, is a matter of general surprise. Even the west itself is somewhat dubious as to the soundness of the market, and reports state that western bankers are becoming afraid of discounting grain paper at the current high prices of produce. There are, however, substantial causes for a much higher range of prices than was expected a few weeks ago; but being chiefly connected with the condition of the foreign markets, they do not readily acquire their full force among the general public on this side.

One or two facts require to be appreciated in order that the position of the grain trade may be understood. The foreign markets, after two years of short crops, were exceedingly bare of stocks; which has caused a very active demand for grain early in the season. This is also true to an important extent of our own market. For months past domestic millers have been running on the smallest possible supplies in expectation of a fall in prices, and stocks at all the grain centers were reduced to an unusually low point before harvest. Here, therefore, as abroad, there has been a large early demand for consumption. In the next place, the foreign crops fall below the early hopes, so that the markets are suffering under a restriction. These are the causes which have produced the recent advance in wheat in the British markets. The London correspondent of the Financial and Commercial Chronicle thus enumerates the principal causes which have produced the late change in the tone of the wheat trade:

"Firstly, the small supplies of old wheat in the hands of the farmers; secondly, the limited stocks held by the millers; thirdly, the circumstance that the wheat crop in this country proves, so far as we are able to judge, below an average, and greatly under the expectations which had been formed regarding it at the period of blooming; and, fourthly, the deficiency of the French harvest, and the purchases of French buyers here, as well as in Germany and Eastern Europe. These circumstances fully justify the existing position of the trade, which, during the present week, has for the most part, continued firm with an upward tendency in prices."

The shortness of the British supply is indicated by the fact that, during the first three weeks of September, the imports of wheat were 2,258,000 cwt, against 826,000 cwt for the same period of last year, while the imports of flour show an increase of about fifty per cent.

According to the general tenor of foreign advices the wheat crop may be considered short in the following countries: Great Britain, France, Belgium, Poland, Spain and Algeria. In South Russia the crop is reported fair; in Turkey and the States bordering on the Danube, full; in Egypt a gain upon its late reduced supplies; Hungary, abundant. Nothing definite has yet been heard from the countries having their outlet on the Baltic seaboard. In this condition of the foreign supply, it is clear that there must be an active drain upon our supplies, and as our surplus can, after all, but very partially make up for the deficiency in countries with such large population, it can scarcely be otherwise than that there should be a strong counteraction to any downward tendency in prices in our markets.

Nor is it to be overlooked that, while we have unusually large crops of wheat, rye, oats and barley, yet the corn crop of the West falls much below that of last year. The receipts of corn at the five great grain ports of the West from August 3d to October 5th, amount to 7,701,000 bushels, against 10,544,000 bushels for the corresponding period of last year. This decrease has a very direct bearing upon the value of wheat.

Under the circumstance of a generally exhausted condition of stocks, there is naturally a desire to get forward a large amount of grain before the close of navigation, not only here but in Europe; and it is not impossible that this movement, in connection with the disappointment at the result of the European harvests, may keep up prices for a time beyond what will be ultimately realized.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

The farm formerly owned by Daniel Webster, at Franklin, N. H., will be sold at auction on Tuesday.

The fractional currency issued during the week from the Printing Bureau was $593,000; shipments $423,757; redeemed and destroyed $503,800; National Bank currency issued $34,080.

The Sandusky (Ohio) Register of Saturday evening contains a five column letter from Jay Cooke, in defense of the National Banking system, explaining its origin and merits, and urging its perpetuation.

Robert S. McChesney, a police officer, was murdered in New York, Saturday evening, by a prostitute named Fanny Wright.

The Presbyterian Synod of Baltimore, old school, is now in session at Georgetown. A report was made on Saturday from the special committee on the subject of the re-union of the old and new school churches, in which the following paragraph occurs: The experience of our own church before and since its division has proved conclusively that the unity of the spirit in the bonds of peace was better secured by their separation than their organic union, and we accept the teachings of this experience as decisive thus far that unless now agreed upon, the points which then divided them must now decide that the time has not yet come for an organic re-union, and we feel constrained to say, that in the basis proposed by the Joint Committee, such an agreement is not made sufficiently apparent. The Synod laid on the table, by a vote of 45 against 20, a resolution declaring the Synod of Baltimore to express its earnest desire that the two branches of the Presbyterian church may soon be united in a cordial and harmonious union.

The receipts of Internal Revenue for the week were $1,682,000, and for the fiscal year, $65,500,000.

The Louisiana State Fair has been postponed to December 23d.

There were twenty-one deaths from yellow fever in Mobile last week.

A St. Louis dispatch says: Alvin Lloyd suddenly left town to-day, after receiving several thousand dollars in sums of from one to two hundred and fifty dollars, from merchants for advertisements, which were to be inserted in a new Railroad Guide he professed to be about to publish. He has been operating here about six weeks, and collected money in advance.

Miss Osborne, a young lady residing on West Fifty-second street, New York, committed suicide Saturday, by shooting herself. She had been ill and in excruciating pain for several days.

The Democratic Convention at Brooklyn has nominated Martin Kalbfleisch for Mayor.

A questionable financial institution of Jersey City, known as the National Bank of America, came to grief on Saturday. The reputed cashier, Wm. E. Arnold, was arrested upon the charge of fraud, and the door closed. The accused was placed under bonds of $5,000.

A Havana special of the 18th says the elections in Mexico resulted in the success of President Juarez in the States of Mexico and Guadalajara, and all the principal States of the interior.

A Richmond special says that the trial of Jeff Davis will probably come off on the 28th. An effort will be made to obtain a jury of white men. The jury to try him now stands nine negroes and three white men.

Coburn has deposited $1,000 to cover a like amount sent by McCoole, of St. Louis, to fight for $5,000 a side and the championship of America.

A boiler explosion occurred at the Erie Basin Dry Dock, on Saturday, by which Michael Flannigan, the engineer, lost his life.

The Westfield Riot.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., October 20.—The coroner's jury in the case of Jno. T. Brooks, of Westfield, killed by Deputy Constable Chapin, in the recent riot in that town, have returned a verdict justifying the officers.

Gen. Grant's Views.

The movement made throughout the country to nominate General Grant for the Presidency, has developed itself in Washington in the presence of a strong pressure made upon him for a letter clearly defining his views on the pending important national questions. Such of his friends as are urging and waiting the publication of a letter, are confident that one will be forthcoming before the November elections.

New Field for Sherman.

General Sherman is expected in Washington on the first week in November, and unless the President changes his intentions, he will be ordered to take command of a new Military Department, which will embrace probably Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The Maryland Question.

The Sub-Judiciary Committee continued the examination of the Maryland question, to-day, but no developments of interest were obtained.

The Treasury Investigation.

The treasury investigation has created quite a stir in the printing bureau, where it has not been very enthusiastically welcomed; but where, nevertheless, it promises to be very searching. The Committee were not in session to-day, but will resume their duties on Monday.

Internal Revenue Affairs.

General Steedman arrived here to-day and with him a large Internal Revenue delegation of office seekers, whisky men and special agents. They were early at the White House and Treasury, and served to add some freshness to the interminable wrangling going on here over Revenue frauds.

The Democracy After Spoils.

A number of prominent Democrats, including Judge Black and Voorhees, consumed a good part of the President's time to-day, in considering matters of public interest.

Secretary Seward has written that he will return to Washington on Tuesday evening next.

Commissioner of Agriculture.

James R. Hubbell, of Ohio, ex-Congressman, is here as a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, and lately had an interview with the President.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 20, 1867.

The Impeachment Question.

The Chronicle has a paragraph to-day, stating that Mr. Wilson, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, has written here that he has expressed no opinion on impeachment outside of the Committee. This effectually disposes of the story so persistently reiterated within a few days that a majority of the Committee have come out in favor of impeachment. Of course nothing can be settled officially in the premises until the meeting on November 13th, when the Committee take up the question for the first time since the 20th of July.

Montgomery Blair Squelched.

Montgomery Blair yesterday applied to Gen. Grant for the reinstatement of a clerk in the War Department, who was lately dismissed upon the reduction of the clerical force. The request was not complied with, whereupon Blair declared that the clerk could probably be reinstated if he was not a Democrat. He was informed in reply that parties had nothing to do with the qualifications of clerks in the War Department, either in their appointment or discharge.

Reconstruction in the Carolinas.

General Canby has notified General Grant that he has completed arrangements for the coming elections in North and South Carolina, and appointed officers to conduct the election, which takes place the second week in November.

Not Preparing His Reports.

General Grant has not yet commenced preparing his annual reports, either as Commander-in-Chief of the Aarmy or Secretary of War, ad interim, as has been stated.

A Denial.

The Treasury officials authorize a contradiction of the sensational story published in the Express here that upwards of one million counterfeit seven-thirty bonds had been circulated all over the country, and the headquarters of the counterfeiting gang were in Philadelphia, where it is alleged the counterfeit bonds were printed. The story appears to have been manufactured out of whole cloth, for none of the pretended facts are known at the Treasury Department.

Personal.

Governor Fenton, of New York, arrived in town to-day on business connected with the settlement of the New York war claims.

Assistant Attorney General Binckley returned yesterday, and is at his post again.

Jeff. Davis's Trial.

From official sources it is learned that the case of Jefferson Davis will undoubtedly be tried next month, whether Chief Justice Chase shall preside or not. Each party desires and expects Judge Chase to hear the case, and there is at this time no great reason known that would prevent his presence, should there be no extraordinary delay in bringing the case before the court. But as it is expected the trial will last four or five weeks, thus running over a part of the time of the Supreme Court, which meets on the first of December, it is barely possible Judge Chase may not feel warranted in entering upon the hearing, lest he shall be prevented in the meantime from attending to his imperative duties in the Supreme Court. Legal questions of the highest importance are prepared for judgment before the Circuit Court, which it is desired shall be decided by the Chief Justice, but rather than the case shall again be continued both parties are represented as willing to submit the points to Judge Underwood, trusting to getting them before the Supreme Court finally by writ of error.

Code Commissioners' Report.

Code Commissioners, Messrs. Cushing, Johnston and James, are prepared to make their first report to Congress, and will submit the same during the first week of the coming session. Patent and military laws, which are greatly reduced and simplified, form the principal features of the report.

Officer to be Tried for Murder.

General Grant reports that General Pope has ordered that Captain Morris Schaff, commanding United States Arsenal at Mount Vernon, Alabama, be tried upon the charge of murder of Frederick B. Shepard, a citizen of that State. It will be recollected that the homicide grew out of an acrimonious correspondence between Schaff and Shepard, which ended in the latter challenging the former to fight a duel. Schaff had Shepard arrested and brought within the arsenal, and, it is alleged, instantly shot him, the ball taking effect in the neck. Shepard lingered some days and died. Meantime Schaff was tried by court martial for conduct unbecoming an officer and found guilty. These proceedings will be annulled, and the trial for murder go on.

Dinner to Correspondents.

The proprietors of Willard's Hotel gave a dinner to the newspaper correspondents yesterday, which was attended by the representatives of the leading papers of the country.

Deputy Revenue Commissioner.

There is reason to believe the Secretary of the Treasury will appoint J. E. Risley, Esq., Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue, vice Messmore, removed. Mr. Risley is a lawyer, and citizen of Indiana. He will take a position in the Bureau here, instead of going to New York in Messmore's place, and thus put an end to the strife that has been going on for some time, to secure the office and get control of the Metropolitan Revenue Board of New York.

The President's Son.

Robert Johnson, Esq., the President's private Secretary, who has been absent from the city four months, returned this morning, and will at once resume his official duties.

WASHINGTON, October 19.

RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS.

The receipts from customs from the 7th to the 12th of October, at the ports named below, have been as follows:

At Boston	$402,942 98
At New York	2,116,008 90
At Philadelphia	233,214 68
At Baltimore	185,848 65

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Man Killed by the Falling of a Scaffold---Another Seriously Injured.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

FORT WAYNE, IND., October 19, 1867.

George R. Hill, a painter, engaged in painting Ewing's Opera House in this city, was instantly killed this afternoon, by the giving way of the scaffolding on which he was at work, and precipitating him to the ground, a distance of about fifty feet. Peter Masterson, a laborer, engaged on the building, was seriously injured by the falling scaffolding.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 20, 1867.

ARRIVAL.

The steamship Union, from Bremen on the 5th and Southampton the 8th inst., arrived here. Her advices have been mainly anticipated by the Cable.

Congressional Committee in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, October 20.—The Congressional Committee, headed by Mr. Schofield, of Pennsylvania, to inquire into the alleged disloyalty of the members elected from Kentucky, arrived from Lexington last night, and will to-morrow continue taking testimony. They go hence to Covington, where they will no doubt close their labors.

Fire in a Water Cure Establishment.

CINCINNATI, October 20.—A fire occurred at two o'clock this morning at Green Mount Water Cure, about two miles from the city of Richmond, Indiana. It is supposed to have caught from the kitchen. Loss fully covered by insurance. No one injured.

FORT PILLOW.

Rebel General Forrest Disposed of.

A while ago the rebel General Forrest "broke silence" in his own defense in connection with the Fort Pillow butchery. He put in the claim of injured innocence, asserting that there was no such killing—no such butchering as had been represented. Mack J. Leaming writes to the New York Times a communication, which disposes of these statements. We quote as follows:

Not desiring in the least degree to be egotistic, or to subject myself to that charge, I deem it proper here to state the rank and position I held at the time of the capture of Fort Pillow, in order the better to enable the public to judge of the opportunities which I had of knowing the facts as regards the Fort Pillow affair—if I may be allowed to use so mild an expression—and for no other cause. I was the First Lieutenant and Adjutant of the Thirteenth West Tennessee Cavalry, commanded by Major W. F. Bradford. Major Bradford commanded the garrison most of the day, Major J. F. Booth, who was the ranking officer, having been killed about 9 A. M.

As Post Adjutant I had charge of the correspondence which took place under the flag of truce sent in by Forrest, about 3 o'clock P. M., relative to the surrender of the garrison. That correspondence, as published in the report of the Congressional Investigating Committee, is substantially correct, with but one exception, viz., it omitted to state the threats which Forrest actually made in both the communications, in these words, to-wit: "If this demand is not complied with, you must take the consequences." Having confidence in our ability to hold the fort until reinforcements arrived, we refused to surrender, never dreaming that pending the negotiations under the flag of truce, Forrest, by violating all rules of civilized warfare, had treacherously gained positions from which he could successfully assault our works.

This, however, proved only the prelude to the chapter of horrid atrocities which he and his friends had in store for the Federal garrison after its capture. That the massacre of our troops which followed was deliberately premeditated and planned, I believe, as I believe in the existence of a just God, who will punish the perpetrators of this wholesale murder of unarmed and many of them wounded men. I was myself deliberately shot down after I had surrendered, and while lying on the field where I fell saw a number of wounded men deliberately shot. All this occurred after the fort was in entire possession of the Rebels, and when our men had entirely ceased to offer resistance.

These atrocities were renewed early the following morning, when two unarmed, helpless wounded Federal soldiers were shot within thirty feet of where I was lying at the time. I at the same time heard shooting going on all around the fort, but this occurred in my immediate sight and locality.

In conclusion, I would say that I have by no means a desire to present my personal wrongs and sufferings before the public, but for the fact that I am the only surviving officer of my regiment—the only regiment of white troops that participated in the defense of Fort Pillow—I should have remained silent upon this occasion. MACK J. LEAMING.

THE SOUTH.

The latest report from Virginia is, that the Radicals who have of late been a good deal divided, will, in view of the confidence and activity of the Conservatives, unite on one set of delegates with a good prospect of success. The policy of the extreme men of the Hunnicutt-Underwood stamp has been detrimental in its influence, but which, it is now thought, will be acquiesced in to prevent the success of the opposition. It is represented that the negroes look upon Hunnicutt "as their Moses—their savior and redeemer. He has in a most wonderful manner won the love of all the people, and I really believe that so great is their admiration and veneration—their idolatry—for this half-phrenzied and erratic character, that at his command they would lay down their lives to accomplish any purpose he might be disposed to undertake. He rules them with resistless sway, and there is not another white man in the State that can divide with him the empire of their confidence and love."

He is said to be ambitious to be Governor and United States Senator, both of which positions he is likely to reach so long as he retains his present influence over the blacks. In Richmond, Hunnicutt and Underwood are the only persons on the delegate ticket known to fame, and they are as heartily detested as Butler and by about the same classes.

James Morrissey, the third white nominee, is an Irishman by birth, and formerly belonged to the British army. He is a plasterer by trade, and in anti-war times was noted for refusing to work with negroes at his trade. Morrissey is a man of average intelligence, and may now work in harmony with the despised race in patching up a new constitution or plastering over the old one. He made a speech which was only remarkable for one utterance: "I will have a clause inserted in the constitution to disfranchise every foreigner that aided the rebellion." Morrissey will be elected for the negroes hate foreigners. This is or ought to be an Irish bull.

Lewis Lindsay was formerly a slave of John Minor Botts. He is uneducated, but has some "gift of gab." Before he turned politician he was a paper carrier for the Dispatch, and the leader of a brass band.

Joseph Cox, another candidate, is a very tall, a very grave, and withal a very affable and polite negro—black as ebony. He is uneducated, but has been on the grand jury, and is the president of one of the largest secret societies of colored men in the State. Joseph has the advantage of most of his race in being a property holder—as he owns his own house and lot, and is worth some money. His influence is not to be despised, but in his sentiments he is violent and proscriptive, being in favor of disfranchising all rebels except the poor whites, and confiscating their property.

It is thought that quite a number of representative men will be returned from the country districts, who, together with such men as Franklin Stearns and Judge Alexander Rives, will control its action, moderate its temper and give tone to its character, and also keep in subjection the more proscriptive and embittered members.

WHILE Rev. S. Ballard was delivering a temperance lecture in Grand Haven, Mich., the other night, and was depicting in his graphic style the condition of delirium tremens in the "rum maniac," an old lady became so influenced by her imagination, wrought upon by the orator, that when he was describing the sensation of reptiles crawling up from below, she arose from her seat, walked up to the table, and looked over for the purpose of seeing the snakes. This completely upset the gravity of the meeting, and it was some time before the speaker could go on.

Italy Pledged to Enter Rome.

Fenian Alarm in England Unabated

Cable Rates to be Reduced Fifty Per Cent.

Roman Situation More Serious.

Italians Clamoring for Occupation of Rome.

Fears of a Collision Between Italian and French Troops.

Revolution Reported in Rome.

Probability of War Between Italy and France.

Pope Petitioned to Allow Occupation of Rome by Italian Army.

Italy.

LONDON, October 19.—The Times in its leading article asserts that the Italian Premier, Minister Ratazzi, is pledged to enter Rome as soon as the French fleet sails.

The place held by the insurgents is not the seaport Ostria, but the town of Orte, on the Tiber, in the province of Viterbo.

A Spanish frigate has sailed from Cadiz for Civita Vecchia.

The Fenian Alarm.

LONDON, October 19.—The Fenian alarm does not abate. Last evening repeated efforts were made by the Fenians to burn the police station at Chester, and thus release some of their comrades who were there confined. The fire in every instance was extinguished, and every precaution taken to guard against a surprise.

Cable Rates to be Reduced.

LONDON, October 19, Evening.—Arrangements have been perfected whereby rates by the cable are to be reduced fully fifty per cent. The reduction goes into effect on the 15th of November.

The Papal Revolution.

FLORENCE, October 18.—The latest dispatches from the Roman territory discribe the situation as more serious. The Garibaldians are daily crossing the frontier and marching to the points of insurgent rendezvous. Many inhabitants and others in Roman territory are going with the insurgents. The insurgents have captured the town of Orte, fifteen miles east of Viterbo, on the right bank of the Tiber, which gives them possession of the railroad at that place, and they have severed communication between Rome and Florence.

Reports from Papal sources at Rome give accounts of defeats of the insurgents by the Papal troops in the field.

The Italian press and people almost unanimously clamor for the occupation of Rome by the Italian Government. Victor Emanuel's officers continue to arrest Garibaldians as they attempt to cross the frontier.

Admiral Robalti, of the Italian navy, has mustered the Royal squadron of eight iron clads, which he will take to Roman waters.

PARIS, October 18.—Napoleon and his Ministers complain that Victor Emanuel's efforts to enforce the terms of the September convention with respect to invading Papal territory, are not effective. Fears are entertained that a collision may take place between the French and Italian forces, which are being dispatched towards Rome.

LONDON, October 18, Evening.—It is reported a revolution took place in Rome last night, and that great excitement prevails in Florence. Rumors are also afloat that France and Italy intend to arrange for a joint occupation of Rome.

PARIS, October 20.—All the official journals of Saturday concur in declaring that within twenty-four hours Italy must announce her determination, either to support the revolutionary movement, or faithfully execute the provisions of the September Convention, and France must decide for peace or war accordingly.

FLORENCE, October 20.—A deputation consisting of members of the Roman Municipal Council, and headed by a Senator of Rome, has had an audience with Pope Pius IX., at which a petition signed by 12,000 citizens of Rome was presented, praying his Holiness to give his consent to the occupation of Rome by the troops of king Victor Emanuel.

London Money Market.

LONDON, October 19, Evening.—Consols [illegible]; Five-Twenties 68¾, ex-coupons; Illinois Central 77¾; Erie 45½.

Antwerp Petroleum Market.

ANTWERP, October 19, Evening.—Petroleum steady; standard white 52 francs 50 centimes.

ANTWERP, October 20, A. M.—The petroleum market is weaker and prices continue to decline; standard white 52 francs.

U. S. Bonds at Frankfort.

FRANKFORT, October 19, Evening.—United States Bonds, 73¾.

FRANKFORT, October 20, A. M.—United States bonds are quiet at 73⅞.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, October 19, evening.—Cotton closed firmer and more active, owing in part to more favorable trade report from Manchester. Prices advanced ⅛d on lower qualities of American, and closed as follows: Middling uplands, 8⅝d; New Orleans, 8⅞d. Breadstuffs closed dull. Corn declined 1s; quoted at 45s 9d for mixed western. Wheat 16s 2d for California, and 14s 6d for red winter. Barley remained at 5s 6d. Oats 3s 10d. Peas 51s. Provisions closed heavy. Beef declined to 120s. Mess Pork, 71s. Lard declined 6d; quoted at 51s 6d.

ST. LOUIS.

News from the Indian Country---Fires.

ST. LOUIS, October 20.—A dispatch to the Republican, dated Medicine Lodge creek, 17th, says the Indian business progresses finely, and there is a good prospect that a treaty will be made and lasting peace established. A council will commence on Saturday, 19th inst., lasting four or five days. Runners have been sent out to notify the outlying bands. Yesterday the Dog Soldiers, with their chiefs, "Tall Bull," "White Horse," "Little Bear" and "Grey Head" came in and had an interview. They professed a desire for peace, and promised to come to the council. The Penetecheh Camanches, or Honey Eaters, under "Silver Brooch," and Nocones, or Wanderers, under the chief "Horseback," reached here Wednesday. They come from Texas, three hundred miles south of the Little Arkansas.

Superintendent Murphy yesterday issued a week's provisions to five thousand Indians. Every Southern Cheyenne lodge will be at this point to-morrow, making from seven to ten thousand Indians present. All the war parties are in except a fragment consisting of about twelve men, who left their party on the Smoky Hill, they said, to visit the Northern Cheyennes.

An extensive row of buildings on the corner of Carr and Collins streets, known as Randall stables, was burned last night, together with seven horses, two mules, several wagons, and a lot of household furniture. Loss about fifteen thousand dollars; insured for four thousand.

This afternoon the bakery and confectionery of Mr. Pethoffen, Biddle street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth, was burned, and two adjoining buildings damaged. Loss eight to ten thousand dollars; insured for six thousand.

PHILADELPHIA.

The O'Connor-Tack Case Postponed---Prize Fight---Infanticide.

PHILADELPHIA, October 19.—The case of O'Connor against the Tacks was postponed by the court to the 26th of November.

PHILADELPHIA, October 20.—A prize fight took place to-day north of this city between John Badger and Robert Cunningham. After a few rounds had been fought, the police made a dash and arrested seventeen of the spectators, and subsequently arrested one of the principals.

This morning a servant girl in a hotel near the center of the city, gave birth to an illegitimate child and threw it from the fifth story window. The cries of the child attracted the attention of the police, and it was found to be entirely uninjured. The mother will be held on a charge of attempted infanticide.

Terrible Accident--Firteen Men Killed.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., October 20.—A terrible accident occured at the Hoosic Tunnel on Saturday, by which thirteen men were either killed outright or suffocated to death. The gasoline works at the mouth of the shaft exploded, and the burning debris fell down the shaft, burying the whole gang working at the bottom. The bodies will not be extricated for some days.

ALLIANCE, OHIO.

Young Incendiary Captured---Young Girl Burned to Death---A Riotous Proceeding over Lager Beer.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

ALLIANCE, O., October 20.

The boy who set fire to J. F. Sharpnack's barn, in Salem, a few days ago, has been captured. He acknowledged that he fired that building and two others. The only reason he gives for doing so is that he tried to burn a horse belonging to some man with whom he had a quarrel.

A few days since, while the daughter of Frank Etaone, of this city, was attempting to kindle a fire in the stove her clothing caught fire. Before she was discovered she was so badly burned that she lived only eleven hours. Her mother, in attempting to subdue the flames, burned her hands so badly that it is feared that she will lose one of them. The little girl was thirteen years old, and was the oldest of fifteen children.

On Friday evening, quite a riot occurred at Mount Union, or South Alliance, as it is sometimes called. It is said to have originated about as follows: About a week ago two men started a beer saloon in town. The citizens of the place generally opposed it, and at first tried to get rid of it by fair means. Failing in that they tried force. The beer men and their friends supposed that the opposition to them came from the college, and on Friday evening, some of them commenced abusing two of the students without any cause, ordering them to leave the sidewalk, &c. They refused, and when they tried to force them, word was sent to the College where the literary societies were in session. The boys did not take time to adjourn formally, but went to help their friends. There were about thirty of the beer men and fifty or sixty students. The Marshal was on hand and tried to prevent the disturbance. The students acted wisely by obeying the Marshal and giving the originators of the riot a fair chance; but nothing would do, they must whip the students. The students at length went at them, and two or three of each party were pretty badly hurt.

CITY MATTERS.

STABBING AFFAIR IN McCLURE TOWNSHIP.—Thomas McCarthy appeared before Mayor Morrison, of Allegheny, on Saturday, and made an information against a man named John Carr, charging him with assault and battery with intent to kill. The alleged assault was committed on John B. O'Neal, a resident of McClure township, on Thursday night last. It is alleged that on the night stated, Carr, accompanied by O'Neal's wife, and a Mrs. Woods, entered O'Neal's house, Mr. O'Neal being in the house at the time. They then turned out the lights, and, in the darkness, it is alleged, Carr stabbed O'Neal in several parts of the body with a butcher-knife, inflicting some very dangerous wounds. Mrs. O'Neal is charged with being in accessory to the stabbing of her husband. Mr. O'Neal was so badly injured that he was unable to make information, and Mr. McCarthy brought suit against Carr on information received. Carr was arrested by some citizens and brought to the Allegheny lock-up, where he now remains to await a hearing.

Death of an Old Pittsburgher.

The Washington Chronicle, of Saturday last, says: "We regret to learn of the death of Mr. William Hutchison, who has been for a long time connected with the Engineer Department of the Capitol. Mr. Hutchison was very well known in this city, and was generally esteemed and respected. His funeral took place from his late residence, One-half street south, at three o'clock P. M., on Friday." Mr. Hutchison, some years ago, was engaged in the brickmaking business on Boyd's Hill, and was widely known in this city and adjoining counties. He was in the city only a few weeks ago, looking hale and hearty. During the war he was an active member of the Pennsylvania Relief Association at Washington City, and many a soldier from this vicinity will ever remember the many kind gifts he carried them whilst lying on beds of sickness, or distributed to them when able to visit the store-rooms of the association. He was aged forty-seven years, and leaves a wife, but no children.

Railroad Accident at East Liberty --Two Horses Killed.

On Saturday morning as the Cincinnati Express, west, on the Pennsylvania railroad, was approaching the crossing at the east end of the East Liberty Station House, a man named Paul Jacobs made an attempt, with a two horse wagon, to cross the track directly in front of the engine. The locomotive struck between the horses and front wheels of the wagon, killing both horses and smashing the wagon. Mr. Jacobs was in the wagon at the time, and with the wagon was pushed ahead on the track by the locomotive for nearly two car lengths, when the train came to a halt and Mr. Jacobs was found to be uninjured. The train at the time was running at a very slow speed, as all engineers are instructed to slack up when passing the numerous switches in that vicinity, and had such not been the case the accident would no doubt have been much worse. The engineer at the time was ringing the engine bell, and on the side of the road from which Mr. Jacobs approached the track, a train can be seen coming westward for several hundred feet before reaching the crossing. It is a great wonder that we have not more accidents to record at this place, for at this very crossing we have observed wagons, and even carriages containing ladies and children, making the crossing when there were but a few feet to spare, just as if the drivers were anxious to see how close they could come to having an accident. Mr. Jacobs's wagon was loaded with fresh beef at the time of the accident, and he left the wreck—beef and all—and came directly to the city to have a settlement with the company.

Sentences in the Criminal Court.

The following sentences were imposed in the Court of Quarter Sessions on Saturday:

Charles Megraw, John Kelly and Michael Dunn, the boys convicted of the larceny of clothing from the store of Mr. James Clothier, were directed to be placed in the House of Refuge.

Levi Upton, convicted of the larceny of shoes from Messrs. Palmer, Anschutz & Co., was sentenced to one year in the Penitentiary. The sentence was made light on account of the age and infirmity of the prisoner.

Isaac Wolff, the gay young individual who was convicted of false pretenses in collecting money from citizens by representing himself as the agent of the Columbia Fire Company, was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

James, alias Reynolds Johnston, colored, convicted of unlawfully cutting George Washington, was sentenced to eighteen months in the Penitentiary.

John Burke, convicted of assault and battery on John Michell, was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars, and undergo an imprisonment of ten days in the county jail. He was also sentenced to pay the costs in the case of Sunday liquor selling which he preferred against Michell.

Margaret Gray, the young woman convicted of the larceny of a large lot of kitchen utensils from a family in McKeesport, was brought in for sentence. Her counsel suggested her insanity, and Judge Sterrett remarked that his suspicions as to her mental condition were aroused on the trial. Had he known that her sanity was doubted, he would have had the jury pass upon the question. The act authorizing courts to transfer prisoners to the insane asylums had been repealed, and the court declined passing sentence on the woman at present. She was therefore remanded.

Charles Douglass, convicted of having robbed Patrick Bannon, was also called for sentence, but he was remanded until Saturday next, to give him time to satisfy the Court in regard to his previous good character. He has a wife and children residing in Baltimore, and had only been in the city six weeks. He denies his guilt, but the circumstances are strongly against him.

John Mishell, convicted of illegal liquor selling, was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and undergo ten day's imprisonment in the county jail.

THE ALLEGED INFRINGEMENT OF PATENTS.—In the United States Circuit Court Saturday morning a further argument was heard in the case of James Wood vs. the New Castle Manufacturing Company. Mr. Kirkpatrick, for the defense, filed an affidavit from W. Waddington, stating the deponent was told by Reis that he (Reis) had an interview with Mr. Woods at the time Reis alleged that he had an interview with James Woods.

Before Mr. Bakewell commenced his argument Judge Coffin said that in the matter of affidavits it was his opinion the court would not investigate the question of fact or the question of veracity between the plaintiff and defendants.

Mr. Bakewell in commencing his argument said that injunctions—preliminary injunctions—in patent cases were different from ordinary injunctions. The patent had not a great while to run, and there had been suits about it and it had never been declared invalid. The matter was not to be decided by affidavits, and the Court should not refuse an injunction on affidavits such as had been filed. A description of the patent granted to the defendant was read, and it was claimed the principles on which it operated were similar to the Kengon patent, which now belongs to the plaintiff, Woods.

No decision was given by Judge McCandless.

The next case taken up was that of James Wood vs. T. H. Oliphant and George W. Paul. This was an application for a preliminary injunction, and the case was similar in character to the others. It was conducted by the same counsel, Messrs. Bakewell and Christy for the plaintiff, and Kirkpatrick & Mellon and Judge Coffin for the defense.

After the cases had been argued, Judge McCandless took charge of the papers and will render a decision at an early day.

BASE BALL.

Championship of Western Pennsylvania --The Seneca Club, of Oil City, to Play the Enterprise and Allegheny.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

OIL CITY, October 17, 1867.

During my visit here I learn that the Seneca Base Ball Club of this place, will visit Pittsburgh next week to play match games with the two strongest clubs there. They will play the Enterprise Base Ball Club of Pittsburgh, on Thursday, October 24th, at the Union Park, in Allegheny City, and on the following day with the Allegheny Base Ball Club, at the same place, both games commencing at half-past two o'clock, P. M. The game with the Enterprise will be the first of three games for the championship of Western Pennsylvania.

Thinking that your readers might feel an interest in a club that travels so far to compete with so renowned a club as the Enterprise, I have made some inquiries about them, and send you this:

The Seneca Base Ball Club was organized in May, 1866, by William Rawiston, the celebrated second baseman of the Allegheny Base Ball Club. Its first President was Thomas Williams, now of Pittsburgh. The club played last year nine games, winning five and losing four. This year it has played thirteen games, losing but one. The Captain of the first nine, who is also catcher, is Thomas A. McLaughlin, formerly a resident of Pittsburgh. The pitcher is Robert B. Magee, formerly of Allegheny City—both gentlemen being extensively known in our vicinity. The total runs made by the Senecas this year in thirteen games are 637. Their opponents have made three hundred and sixty. The last six of these games only have been played by their present first nine. In those six games they have made 333 runs, an average of fifty-five and three over, and their opponents have made 140 runs, an average of twenty-three and two over. During the thirteen games they made 44 home runs and their opponents 10. Though it is hardly probable, bare accident and luck, that they can win a game from the Enterprise, still they play very finely and the games they play will be as interesting as any seen in our vicinity this season.

PITTSBURGHIAN.

MATCH BETWEEN THE ENTERPRISE AND ATLANTIC.

The champion Enterprise Club played a match game with the Atlantic Club, of this city, on the grounds of the former, on West Common, Allegheny, on Friday afternoon. Some excellent playing was made, and the game resulted in a victory for the champions, the Enterprise scoring thirty-one runs to the Atlantic's twenty. Game closed at the end of the seventh inning on account of the darkness.

THE ALLEGHENY AND MUTUAL TO-DAY.

The Allegheny Club, of Allegheny City, will play the Mutual Club, of East Liberty, a match game on the grounds of the former, on West Common, this afternoon. Some fine playing and a well contested game may be expected.

Religious Intelligence.

Rt. Rev. M. Domenec, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, will pay the following places an Episcopal visitation, when he will administer the sacrament of confirmation: Monday, October 21st, at McKeesport; Tuesday, October 22d, at New Derry; Wednesday, October 23d, at Indiana; Thursday, October 24th, at Summit; Friday, October 25th, at Broadtop; Tuesday, October 29th, at Brady's Bend; Wednesday, October 30th, at Sugar Creek.

The forty hours' devotion in honor of the Most Holy Sacrament, will commence in Convent Chapel, Pittsburgh, on the 26th inst.

Rev. Mr. Foulk, of Kennington, Beaver county, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church of Buffalo.

A Committee of Blairsville Presbytery has been appointed to organize a new Presbyterian church at Blacklick Station, Indiana county.

At the recent meeting of the Presbyterian Presbytery of Blairsville, Mr. R. M. Brown, a licentiate of Allegheny City Presbytery, was received, and a call from the congregation of Ebensburg put into his hands.

A revival is going on in the Shippenville circuit, Rev. A. P. Colton, pastor, in the Erie, M. E. Conference, and a number have professed faith and united with the church.

At the fall meeting of the Presbytery of St. Clairsville, of the Presbyterian church, Rev. William M. Kain, of the Presbytery of Patoskala, (New School,) was received with a view to his settlement in the church of Crab Apple. Mr. H. C. Fringle, a licentiate of Presbytery of Zanesville, was received with a view to his ordination and his installation in the church of Morristown. Mr. Samuel Forbes was ordained to the full work of the ministry, and is to be installed over the church of Grandview. A committee was appointed to reorganize a church at New Athens.

The Birmingham Passenger Railway Company and the Borough of Birmingham.

Our readers are aware that, some months since, the Birmingham Passenger Railway Company proposed to lay a second track through the borough of Birmingham to accommodate the increasing business of the road. Serious opposition was manifested on account of the narrowness of the street, and for other reasons, and it was agreed to submit the matter to a vote of the people. The citizens held an election and a majority voted against the double track. The company then fell back upon their rights under the original ordinance, which authorized the construction of all necessary switches and turnouts, and began to erect such switches as they considered necessary. The borough authorities alleged that the company was putting in so many switches, and of such great length, as to inflict as much injury as would have resulted from a double trade, and an application was made to the Court of Common Pleas to enjoin them from proceeding with the work. The Court, however, refused to grant a preliminary injunction. Suits were then entered against the workmen, as individual trespassers, and the work was hindered and delayed very materially. On Saturday the company, through their attorney, asked a preliminary injunction to restrain the borough authorities from interfering with the workmen in any way. After a full hearing, during which the Court intimated that the company had a right to construct such switches as they deemed necessary, the preliminary injunction was granted, on the President of the company, W. M. Hersh, Esq., giving security for such damages as might be sustained.

Double Stabbing Affair in Allegheny.

On Saturday night, about half-past eleven o'clock, an affray occurred near Fraelich's saloon, on Liberty street, in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, in which two men named Frank Dill and John Miller were stabbed and severely wounded by a man named Baptist Bender. The parties, it appears, met in Fraelich's saloon, when Dill asked Bender for a razor which he had loaned him some time ago. Bender refused to return the razor, when a quarrel ensued between him and Dill. They then went out to the street, when Bender it is alleged, knocked Dill down. Upon recovering himself, Dill, with some of his friends, among whom was Miller, started after Bender, when the latter turned around and, it is alleged, drawing a knife, stabbed Miller severely on the right side of the neck, and also inflicted a severe stab on the left side of Dill's neck. In a few moments some of the night watch appeared, but by that time the perpetrator had fled and has not yet been arrested. Neither of the stabs inflicted are dangerous, although Miller's wound is very severe and painful. Dill and Bender reside in the Fourth ward, and Miller in the Third ward, Allegheny. An information will be lodged against Bender to-day, and he will probably soon be in custody.

Suburban Improvements.

A drive out either Pennsylvania or Center avenues to East Liberty and Wilkinsburg is an enjoyable treat these pleasant evenings, made more agreeable by the observance on every hand of signs of thrift and prosperity. From the moment the old city line is passed, the observer's attention is attracted by the continuous array of new residences in course of erection. In most instances these residences are villas of most tasteful design, each one manifesting the peculiar taste of its owner, but all handsome and evidently comfortable. On the Wilkinsburg road, about a mile and a half from East Liberty, Dr. E. S. Aborn, the successful physician and surgeon of this city, is erecting a handsome and commodious cottage, and laying out his beautiful grounds under the superintendence of one of our most accomplished gardeners. His will be one of the most inviting and picturesque villas on the road. Other residences without number are in a forward state in and around the village of East Liberty, which is now almost as compactly built as one of the old wards of the city of which it has become a component part.

Escape of Prisoners.

On Monday morning last four prisoners confined in the jail in Franklin, made a sudden attack on the keeper having them in charge, overpowered him, and taking from him the keys, and a revolver, made their escape. Sheriff Gray immediately organized a party, started in pursuit of the fugitives, and succeeded in capturing Joseph Hidenger, who is said to be the ringleader. The other three eluded the search at the time, but on Tuesday, one of them, named Henry Burke, was apprehended at Pithole, by officer John A. Wylie, and conveyed to his old quarters. The Sheriff offers a reward of one hundred dollars each for the two fugitives at large. They are described as follows: Francis Hidenger, aged twenty-seven years, five feet eight inches high, smooth face, hazle eyes, dark clothes, (greasy.) George W. Hopewood, aged thirty-two years, five feet six inches in height, dark blue eyes, red moustache, snuff colored pants, dark cloth coat, white shirt, light plug hat, light red hair.

A DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE.

Mass Meeting in the Diamond, Allegheny City---Speech by Judge Thurman, of Ohio---The Fall of the Platform.

The Democrats of this city and vicinity held a meeting on Saturday evening, the principal speech being delivered by Hon. A. G. Thurman, of Columbus, Ohio, in the Diamond, Allegheny City.

The meeting was organized at the "Battery" corner of Grant and Webster streets, where the city Democracy were joined by delegations from Allegheny and Lawrenceville. Some of the buildings in that vicinity were decorated with Chinese lanterns, and fireworks were distributed freely among the crowd. A. J. Baker, Chairman of the Committee, at eight o'clock appeared on the platform at Duffy's and announced Hon. Walter H. Lowrie as President of the evening, assisted by a large number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

The procession was then formed and moved down Grant street to Third, down Third to Wood, up Wood to Fifth, and thence across the St. Clair street bridge to the northwest side of the Diamond Square, where a speakers' stand had been built.

Mr. Baker called the meeting to order and introduced Judge Thurman, who spoke as follows:

SPEECH OF JUDGE THURMAN.

Fellow Citizens of Pittsburgh:—I have been speaking for more than two months almost every day, and sometimes twice a day, and at the end of this service I am too hoarse and have too sore a throat to be heard unless I have the good fortune to have the entire attention of the audience. I know very well how large—how immense this meeting is, and I know that some will be impatient because they do not hear. All I have to say is I hope they will have a little patience until I get up to the speaking point, and then I think I will make myself heard, and perhaps some will hear me who do not wish to. [Applause and laughter.] You will therefore indulge me until I can get my voice in the proper condition.

I am rejoiced to be the bearer of the congratulations of the Democracy of Ohio to their bretheren of Pennsylvania upon the glorious victories you have achieved. Ever since I can recollect Pennsylvania has been called the keystone of the Democratic arch, the keystone of the Union—for to be the one is to be the other. During the terrible convulsions of the last six years it seemed to the unreflecting that that arch was irretrievably broken, but thanks to the Giver of all Good, it is this day restored, and Pennsylvania is once more its keystone.

What, my friends, is the lesson that our victories of this year teach? What is the meaning of that great reactionary current that, beginning in Connecticut last spring and sweeping through to Delaware and Maryland and Kentucky and Illinois, reached the shore of the Pacific in the summer and comes back to take up Ohio and Pennsylvania in the fall, and that next month will bear on its bosom New Jersey and New York? What is it that makes the Yankee of Maine join hands with the far off converted Republican of California in repudiating Radical rule? What is it that binds the great Middle States of Ohio and Pennsylvania in the bonds of a political union? What is it that makes Delaware and Maryland and Kentucky cling to us as their great hope in the dark future, with which they are threatened? What is it that has given us our gains in Indiana, Illinois, Montana and Colorado?

THE FALL OF THE PLATFORM.

While the speaker was delivering the above sentence the platform fell with a crash, and the speakers, officers of the meeting, reporters, and the large crowd of listeners which were standing upon it, were precipitated to the ground, a distance of several feet. Fortunately no one was seriously injured, but the affair caused considerable confusion. The meeting soon after adjourned to the steps of the city building.

RESUMES HIS SPEECH.

After considerable difficulty order was restored and the Judge continued his speech as follows: I was going to say that on the second Tuesday of this month I got a little bit of a fall, but it did not hurt me any more than this fall to-night, and that is just nothing at all. And now my friends, when that platform yonder fell I was asking a question. What is the meaning of these Democratic victories this year. I will tell you now more briefly than I would have told you then what I think the meaning is. To me it seems that the answer is plain. To me it seems that the meaning of these victories is:

First. That the American people are not prepared to surrender Constitutional government.

Secondly. That the white race is not prepared to surrender its manhood, and all its glorious traditions, and become serfs of the black race. [Voices, "Never," and cheers.]

Thirdly. That the magnanimous and sensible people of the Republic are not willing to see the South converted into a Poland, and governed by military despotism.

Fourthly. That they are not willing to see the material prosperity of the country destroyed, in order to perpetuate the power of a party.

Fifthly. That they are not willing to see the land groan for a thousand years, perhaps, under a burthen of debt and taxation such as this world never before saw—when it may all be honorably paid within the lifetime of a generation without repudiation and without injustice. And, finally, that they are not willing longer to commit our destinies to rulers whose corruption, wastefulness and extravagance has squandered our treasure, given away our property, and brought us to the very verge of national bankruptcy. This, it seems to me, is the lesson taught by the elections this year; and I thank my maker, that we have learned that lesson before it is too late.

Parties have often fought for men more than for principles; and our opponents are now seeking to inaugurate such a contest once more. They overlook the fact that our victories this year were achieved by battling for honest principles and honest measures, and not for men. They overlook the fact that the times are too serious for the people to abate one jot of their wisdom, one spark of their patriotism, one particle of the common sense. No, my friends, if we display the same wisdom next year that has marked our course this year, and 1868 will see the Temple of Constitutional Liberty and good government stand erect in our land with all its glorious and beautiful proportions, and with a light on its altar that will burn forever more.

And now, my friends, I will address you briefly upon some of the questions we have discussed this year.

First, I will speak upon this question of reconstruction—the so called reconstruction of the Southern States. Why, my friends, what do these men mean by talking of the reconstruction of the Southern States? Have we not a Constitution, and does not the Constitution construct the Government? What in the name of Heaven had these Radicals to do but to obey the Constitution, and then reconstruction will come. The radicals call their plans a question of reconstruction. There never was such a miserable misnomer in the world. They ought to call it a question of destruction; a question of destruction of States; a question of destruction of individual liberty, of the destruction of the country's prosperity, of the destruction of every principle that ever made America glorious, or that ever planned a brilliant future for our country. It is a question of the destruction of civil liberty and not a question of the reconstruction of constitutional liberty. But there is one thing more that this so-called reconstruction is. It is a question whether one-third of this Republic shall be placed under the control of the negro race. [Voices, "never."] It is a question whether ten States of this Union shall be surrendered to the negro. It is a question whether they shall disfranchise the white men and enfranchise the negroes. It is a question whether one-third of this Republic shall be placed under the control of the black race. I need not say give that one-third to the control of the black race and it becomes the balance of power and will govern the whole country from Canada to the Gulf, until the people, becoming disgusted with so terrible a state of things, will bring about that terrible conflict twards which the Radicals are precipitating their so-called negro friends. [Cheers.] One thing ought to be known in every Northern home, to every man, woman and child in the North, and that is the tax which this Radical policy levies upon your pockets. Why, what is it that keeps the whole Southern States almost in a condition of starvation? It is not long since we were sending them provisions to keep life in their bodies. They are kept down by this radical despotism so that they have no heart to work. What heart has a man to till his lands and improve his country when he does not know but perhaps that at the next session of Congress, Thadeus Stevens will take away his land and give it to the negro? [Cheers.] What heart would any of you have to labor and improve your lands, build houses and till your farms, if you did not know you would be allowed to hold them six months? Under such circumstances, no man would do more than earn a livelihood.

The consequence is that of the two hundred and seventy-seven million of taxes paid under the internal revenue laws, the State of Pennsylvania paid more than the whole ten Southern States. The State of Ohio paid five million more than the entire ten Southern States. Is it just to make the people of the Northern States pay so much.

I will say a few words upon the subject of national debt and national taxation. You are at this moment the most deeply in debted country in the world. A few years ago Great Britain was the most deeply in debt; now you owe more than she does. England has thirty-six millions of people in the British Isles, and in India and other places two hundred millions more, making in all two hundred and thirty-six millions of people subject to the British crown. We have but thirty-one millions of people—two hundred and five millions less than she—and yet we owe more than she does. Great Britain draws three hundred and fifty-four millions of dollars taxes, while America draws five hundred and sixty millions; we pay more than two hundred millions more than they do. The property of Great Britain is thirty-six thousand millions of dollars; the property of the United States is estimated at fourteen thousand millions of dollars. The value of the property of Great Britain is three times as much as the valued property of the United States, and yet we owe more than she does, and pay to our General Government two hundred millions more than she does.

The rate of taxation in Great Britain is ninety-three cents to every hundred dollars—the ratio of taxation to property. The taxation by our General Government alone is three dollars and ninety-three cents on every hundred dollars. But says some one, where do you get that fact? I tell you I get it from the report of the special Committee of Revenue made to Congress.

Some one says I pay no three dollars and ninety-three cents on my property. Yes you do, upon almost everything you eat, drink, wear, own or earn. I suppose there is not a poor young copperhead in this audience who is not ambitious of owning six shirts. If he is let him step over to a store across the way and ask the merchant how much he will charge for the cloth, and he will find that it will cost four dollars. Ask the merchant why he charges four dollars, when he asked but two dollars a few years ago, and if he is a sensible man he will say, "It is true that a few years ago I sold you the cloth for two dollars and now ask you four, but you must recollect that since that time the United States has laid a tax of three and a half cents per pound on cotton. Then comes Uncle Sam to the manufacturers saying, I paid you a good price during the war for shoddy pantaloons that broke every time the soldier kneeled to fire, and by these contracts enriched you, and now you must pay a tax upon every yard of the shirt, and when it gets into the merchants hands Uncle Sam comes to him with a tax, and so when the laboring man gets his shirts he pays all three of these taxes—the cotton raisers tax, the manufactures tax, and the merchants tax. The man who puts the shirts on his back pays all the taxes. [Cheers and laughter.] You have not a thing upon your backs that has not paid three to five taxes, and you who wear them are the men who pay the taxes. When this argument is presented to some men they are foolish enough to assert that the men who wear the clothes do not pay any tax on them. It would be safer to say that the laboring men pay all the taxes. The only way you can add to the property of the country is by labor. A man may invent the best machine, and yet until labor comes there is not anything added to the wealth of the country. Take the bond-holder who toils not, neither does he spin, and yet is clad in as fine linen as Solomon. He does not add anything to the wealth of the country if he spends his time in idleness. He does not add as much to the wealth of the country as the shoe maker's apprentice who makes a pair of fifty cent shoes in a year. You cannot pay taxes without having wealth to pay them with, but it is equally true that the great burden of taxation falls upon the laboring classes. It is for this reason that there is not a class so much interested in having the people lightly taxed as the laboring people of the country. What has been the effects of taxation upon the people? Two hundred years ago England owed but little, and in the language of her people, as well as her poets, were "Merrie old England." Now she is in debt, and in accordance with one account, one-sixteenth of her people are dependent upon her poor laws for support; and how can we hope for prosperity with such taxation as we are compelled to pay? What is to be done? Repudiation? I say no; but such a payment as the people can make, and which shall stop this immense debt of interest you are paying each year. Where you promised to pay gold, pay gold, and where you promised to pay greenbacks pay greenbacks. [Cheers.] Now the next thing is to stop the plundering of the public treasury. If I were to stand here and recount the one hundredth part of the plunderings of the treasury it would require a week. Mr. Dawes, one of the most radical of men, was forced to admit that the stealings in one year under a radical administration, would equal the expenses of Buchanan's administration. In the good old days of Andrew Jackson's administration the expenses never reached twenty-five millions of dollars, and now our expenses are as much in one single year, as would be required to run the government twenty-one years at the old rate of expenditure. Is it not time to have a stop put to the leaks in the treasury and to turn out the men who thus squander your money.

They have got up an Indian war—a war gotten up by men who wanted contracts. What have been the expenses of that war? Secretary Stanton reported to Congress that the expenses of that war, for the years 1865 and 1866, were over thirty millions of dollars. Now how many hostile Indians did they kill with that thirty millions of dollars? I will tell you. The speaker here said that a Rev. Col. Chivengton reported that he had killed one hundred peaceable, inoffending Indians, consisting of old men, women and children, and whenever any of his audience wanted to find a particularly mean man they had only to send for one who wrote "Rev. Col." before his name. [Cheers.] Now how many hostile Indians did they kill with this thirty millions? Why a member of the House of Representatives, Mr. Windom, after investing the fact, stated that every hostile Indian that they had killed cost the Government two millions of dollars. The expedition of Gen. Sally cost over $6,000,000, and he reported to Secretary Stanton that he killed one Indian. And an express rider says it is a lie, he killed that Indian, [Laughter.] and the hunters and trappers say they both lie, for the Indian is alive yet. [Renewed laughter.] That is the way your money goes. Now I will tell you another way it goes. Another thing is necessary to stop this heavy taxation and strain upon the people, that is to dismiss at least one-half of the office-holders of the general government, and set them at honest work. Have you any idea how many there are? According to the official report of the Secretary of the Treasury, there are over twenty thousand hangers on in that one single department—more than there were during the entire administration of Buchanan. Consider the number of men in the other Departments, and find how many men you are feeding in idleness, and who are electioneering for the radical party. There never was a Government so cursed with office holders as is the Government of the American people this day. The number of hangers-on and office-holders is so grest that they almost remind us of one of the plagues with which the Almighty afflicted Egypt. Let them go to work for an honest livelihood. [Cheers.] Then another thing: Give these Southern people constitutional liberty and a civil government, and then they will have the heart to till their lands and improve their country. Then they will be able to bear their share of taxation and lift just so much off your shoulders, then once more we will be a united people from the lakes to the gulf; once more we will not only march under the same flag, but our hearts will beat together as we keep step to the music of the Union. [Cheers.] Do this my friends and you may hope to see your country relieved from debt; your shoulders relieved from this burden of taxation thrust upon you, and your people all over the Republic may be once more lovingly united.

Now my friends I have spoken longer than I expected to. I came here not so much to make a speech as to bear the congratulations of the Democracy of Ohio to the Democracy of the Keystone State. [Applause.]

I come to say to you that your brethren of Ohio have made what we think was a gallant fight, and they recognize the fact that you have made a gallant fight here, and that you have brought back the grand old ship of the line to a safe anchorage in a Democratic harbor. [Loud cheering.]

At the conclusion of Judge Thurman's speech the procession was re-formed and marched back to Duffy's "Battery" where the lanterns were left, and the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Thomas S. Clarke.

We are called upon this morning to announce the death of Mr. Thomas S. Clarke, of the firm of Clarke & Co., which event occurred on Saturday afternoon, at his residence in Oakland, after a protracted illness. Deceased was born in Canonsburg, Washington county, and at the time of his death was in the sixty-seventh year of his age. In his nineteenth year he first embarked in the forwarding and commission business in the town of Wheeling. He came thence to Pittsburgh in 1825, and entered into the same business, taking at once a prominent part in the transportation of freights by river and identifying himself largely with the development of the steamboat business. Subsequently he became the senior partner of the widely-known firm of Clarke & Thaw, Forwarding and Commission Merchants, and proprietors of the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal freight line. On the completion of the Pennsylvania Central railroad, Mr. Clarke became the principle of the Pittsburgh agency for through freights, which he maintained until his death.

Mr. Clarke was a remarkable man in many respects. During an active business life of forty-six years he was never known to lose his temper, but under all circumstances was the same calm, affable and courteous gentleman. He was a thorough business man, prompt and energetic in all his engagements and transactions, and exacted no more from his employees than what he had made the rule of his own life, fidelity to duty. It is not too much to say that no other man in the country was better posted in his peculiar business than Mr. Clarke, and the frequency with which his matured judgment was brought into requisition to make straight the difficulties of other houses, may be mentioned as evidence of his thorough knowledge of his business. As a citizen he took an active interest in the growth and prosperity of the city, and for a number of years was a member of Select Council. He was a Christian in the fullest acceptation of the term. In all matters of public interest, he was liberal and progressive. His charity was unostentatious, but free and liberal, as no deserving institution or individual ever applied to him in vain. During the war, no citizen gave more freely or abundantly of his means, and none prayed more fervently for the success of the Union arms. In brief, he was a sagacious, energetic and liberal minded citizen, whose integrity and benevolence will long be remembered by thousands who enjoyed his friendship and acquaintance.

The Daily Commercial

MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1867.

The Commercial is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

We are glad to hear that Gen. Butler will bring forward his plan for paying off—as he calls it—the national debt with an extraordinary issue of greenbacks. This should not be long an open question, but should be decided the earliest moment Congress can get a vote on it.

The World sounds the alarm that the Republicans in New York intend to carry the State, and that they will do it, too, unless something is done to stop them. The World confesses with some alarm, that the "small registration in that city and Brooklyn shows the jubilant faith of the Democracy needs mixing with a good deal of strenuous work." All the Republicans of New York have to do to maintain themselves is to poll their vote. A failure to do it is what was the matter in Pennsylvania. In Ohio they broke down totally under the Amendment. But in New York they have no such "deck load."

Private letters by the Persia agree in representing that a general European war is highly probable—some say inevitable. The Romish question is the immediate cause, though there are remote ones growing out of the general situation. France and Prussia are regarded as the two chief cambatants, though a general taking of sides is regarded as a necessary consequence. Heavy purchases of lard and flour on French account have been made in the New York market within the last few days, and it is said that foreign bankers and merchants advise their agents in that city to act as though hostilities were about to commence.

We understand that the Republicans of Philadelphia are preparing to contest the election in that city. Extensive frauds are alleged in several wards, and the proof is said to be at hand. If proven they will change the result in the city. Of course the necessary corrections will be equally in favor of Williams, and if they should be enough to give the offices to the local Republican candidates in Philadelphia, they will be enough to elect him over Sharswood. But it is not in Philadelphia alone that frauds have been committed and corrections are to be made. In many parts of the State similar frauds are alleged, and it is not doubted if the honest vote can be ascertained he will be found to have several thousand majority.

The official announcement of Napoleon that he intends to intervene to prevent Rome falling into the hands of the people of Italy, is regarded as the torch that will be likely to set all Europe in a flame. France and Italy cannot come into collision without making others parties to the strife. It is unnatural to suppose that Prussia would see her late ally overwhelmed. Besides it would be Prussia's opportunity to gratify the resentments which for a considerable time she has been smothering. France is either expecting to meet Italy alone, or is proceeding with full expectation of encountering Prussia also. In such a case, it is hardly probable that Austria would be a spectator. Nor would Russia be unconcerned; but might regard the moment favorable for commencing operation with the sick man in the East; in which event England would probably begin to feel she had some interest in affairs. And all this whether the temporal power of the Pope shall stand or fall.

The belief expressed in the Florence dispatch of the 18th that France and Italy were acting in concert, is so contrary to probabilities that it seems not worthy of credit, since it is disproved by the imperative demand made by Napoleon on Italy for the strict observance of the convention of September. On Italy's response to this demand hangs the immediate future. The opinion is expressed that she will comply, which for the moment may avert the impending European war.

THE DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE.

The Democratic party in this quarter so seldom have an opportunity to rejoice over successes, that they would be almost unnatural if they did not improve the occasion offered by the October elections,—more especially since it will be the only one for an indefinite period. We confess we were prepared for something more extensive than the affair Saturday evening. The short-coming must have proceeded from a clear perception of the future,—the absolute certainty that one year from now the States which are the object of so much rejoicing will go overwhelmingly for Grant, the Republican Presidential candidate. Intelligent Democrats know very well that their rejoicings are "positively for one night only," and that their so-called gains and victories mean nothing for them in the future. It is very much to be doubted if, after all, they feel as good as the Republicans do.

The orator of the evening was Judge Thurman, the defeated Gubernatorial candidate in Ohio. His speech will be found reported in another part of our paper. It was somewhat abbreviated by the breaking down of the platform on which he stood—an ominous incident. It was spoken many times in Ohio, and contains nothing specially noticeable.

There was present, but not permitted to speak, another distinguished Democratic orator, Henry Clay Dean, whose soubriquet at home is "dirty-shirt Dean." Though charged to the muzzle, and all the way from Iowa, for the special purpose of delivering himself here, the managers of the affair refused to permit him to say a word. In fact, Judge Thurman caused it to be distinctly understood that if Dean spoke he would not—and so the dirty-shirt individual was compelled to keep silent.

The jubilee cannot be said to have been worth to the Democracy what it cost—which was not much. The money expended would probably have liquidated the unpaid bill for the fire-works consumed when Andrew Johnson, in swinging round the circle more than a year ago, landed in Pittsburgh.

BUSINESS UNDER THE BANKRUPT LAW.

The Bankrupt Law has been in operation almost five months, and, so far as the proceedings in the Courts of Bankruptcy are concerned, has deceived the expectations of the country. One of the strongest objections urged against the passage of the law, was that it would generally discharge people from their lawful debts, and thereby impede the commercial interests of the country. But so thorough is the law in its detection of fraud and dishonesty, that no debtor can hope to obtain a discharge from his debts unless he shows a perfectly honest record of everything connected with his business dealings. On Saturday evening the whole number of cases in Judge McCandless's court was one hundred and ninety. It may not be uninteresting to state that in the same length of time, under the act of 1841, the number was seven hundred and seventy-two—more than four times as many. Of the one hundred and ninety a goodly proportion are involuntary cases, while under the act of 1841 there was no provision for involuntary proceedings at all.

We hope that the small number of cases under the present law indicates a healthier condition financially than had been generally supposed. From all that we can learn from other sections of the country the same falling off is exhibited. It is likely, however, that the number of applicants will be greatly increased before long. It must be remembered by those who intend to apply for the benefit's of the law that they must commence their proceedings within the first year of the existence of the law, in order to obtain its benefits, unless their estates will pay at least fifty per cent. on their indebtedness. The knowledge of this fact will no doubt stimulate applicants soon whose estates are hopelessly insolvent.

THE GREAT NECESSITY.

As the meeting of Congress approaches, the people naturally begin to think and speak of its probable and possible action, of the tone of mind that will pervade it, and of its relations with and treatment by the executive department of the Government. Without much data for answering them, such questions as these arise in different minds—what will Congress do in the matter of reconstruction? How will it be affected by the fall elections? Will the long drawn project of impeachment be brought to a head? Will there be any disturbance of the order or encroachment on the liberty of Congress by Presidential assumption?

But this is not the only or principal questions that should present themselves with prominence to the minds either of the people or the representatives. Nothing more imperatively demands the thorough and early consideration of Congress than the affairs of the Treasury, we mean the Treasury in all the ramifications of its legitimate business, both in the collection and the disbursement of money for public uses. In managing the fiscal department during an expensive and protracted war, the Government has become so accustomed to large figures, and the people, under the stress of a patriotic urgency, so accustomed to pay liberally and promptly into the National Treasury, that both, for a time after the war ended, have yielded to the momentum of habit in some degree, and passed over the suggestions of wholesome economy.

But there is now felt to be a necessity for more careful engineering of the revenue and fiscal machinery. There is no way to meet the demand for an abatement of taxation, but a fair collection of all legally imposed taxes in the first place, and a rigid economy in Government expenditure in the second place. And this devolves on Congress the duty of making such laws of taxation as are just, equal and efficient, for raising the sum required to carry on the Government, and also the duty of restricting appropriations to purposes absolutely necessary. The officials appointed to collect and disburse public money should be chosen with reference to business qualifications and integrity, and not for active partisanship. The revenue collection service shows that this has not been done to the full extent of the requirement. Our military and naval service demands the examination of officers for appointment or promotion. It is equally proper for fiscal officers, having charge of pecuniary business for the nation.

As to appropriations, it is notorious that the bills for this purpose are usually deferred to a late period of the session—often to the very last, when, to say nothing of unseemly disturbances of the judgment by strong potations, the excitement and hurry of the hour render the proper transaction of such important business next to impossible. The Reports of the departments are all laid before Congress in December. Their condition and their prospective estimates are committed at that early date to the respective committees. Why should they not secure early deliberation and the final action of Congress while it is in the best condition for business? Why should the appropriation bill be, like a delayed will and testament, the hurried work of the dying moments of Congress?

There is nothing more certain, than that the people are determined on paying the entire indebtedness of the nation honestly and honorably. It is equally certain, that they will not be satisfied to have their money raised for this and other legitimate purposes loosely handled, or spent, under whatever pretexts, on party favorites or projects. Economy in the administration of any department of the Government is a popular virtue. General Grant has set a model example, and it is universally recognized and approved. But Congress has a power and responsibility, extending to all the expenses of the Government, as well as to the collection of the revenues. We hope therefore for an early and vigorous direction of its consideration to the revision of the revenue laws, and for a vigorous scrutiny of the appropriations. Both are demanded, in no unmistakable manner, by the tax paying people. Prompt and intelligent attention by Congress to this business, will make all its other transactions the more agreeable to the people. Without this, even its wise political measures will be greeted with a less enthusiastic approval, or even with a distrustful coolness.

The Contested Elections in Philadelphia.

On Friday, in the Court of Common Pleas, Philadelphia, Wm. B. Mann, Esq., filed three separate petitions protesting against Wm. A. Leech, Joseph Megary and General John F. Ballier being allowed to occupy and perform the duties of the offices of Register of Wills, Clerk of Orphans' Court and City Commissioner respectively. The petitions, after a general allegation of fraud, set forth that—

> "The election officers in said divisions falsely and fraudulently permitted and suffered a large number of persons not qualified voters of said divisions, to vote at said election, to the number of 1,949 and upwards, whose votes were taken and counted in the general return for said offices whose names were not on the list furnished by the City Commissioners to the election officers, without requiring or receiving proof of the qualifications of said voters, and without requiring or receiving proof by a qualified elector of the residence in said divisions of said voters, and without adding the names of said voters with the names of the persons making proof to the list furnished by the City Commissioners. They falsely and fraudulently permitted a large number of persons, to the number of 411 and upwards, not qualified to vote in said divisions, whose votes were taken and counted in the general return for the said office of City Commissioner, whose names are to your petitioners unknown, who voted in the names of those who were upon the list furnished by the City Commissioner to the election officers of said divisions."

Other instances of fraud are alleged, and twenty-four election divisions in the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Seventeeth and Twenty-fifth wards are recited, in which 1,949 persons voted who were not qualified and 411 in the names of others. These figures, it is said, have been arrived at by actual count, and when proved to the satisfaction of the Court will show that Messrs. Campbell, Batters and Urwiler, Republicans, have been elected to the above offices by majorities of 832, 684 and 481 respectively. If the contestants succeed in proving these frauds, and secure their offices, as it is claimed they will, then Judge Williams's election to the Supreme Bench will necessarily follow.

Our Imports and Exports.

An approximate estimate of the exports and imports of the country, for the month of July has been reached by the Director of the Bureau of Statistics. In gold value the imports were $34,237,627; the exports, gold value, were, $37,060,272. From which it appears that the exports were in excess of the imports by $2,822,545. The important fact should be borne in mind that of the exports nearly $17,000,000 was bullion and specie. In the imports the largest items consist of iron and steel manufactures, amounting to $2,334,895; sugar and molasses, $5,862,614; wool and manufactures thereof, $5,074,507; silk manufactures, $1,498,088; and cotton manufactures, $1,813,178. In the exports are included breadstuffs, value $2,772,548; cotton, $8,839,065; petroleum and coal oils, $1,981,871; provisions and tallow, $3,024,331, and tobacco $4,981,206.

The Boston Traveller interprets the Ohio election to mean that the people do not admit the right of Congress to interfere with the question of suffrage in their State—not the repudiation of the Congressional policy of reconstruction. The ballot was given to the negro in the South for the same reason the gun was—to protect himself and put down disloyalty—a consummation in which every part of the country had an equal interest. We quote what the Traveller—published at the home of Mr. Sumner—has to say on his doctrine that Congress has the right to regulate suffrage in the several States:

> Congress has no more right to interfere with the suffrage laws of Ohio than it has to interfere with those of the Canadian Dominion. Every Congressman of liberal views must regret that the people of Ohio should be the victims of a mean prejudice, that leads them to be unjust toward a valuable class of men, but he has not the power to remove the consequence of that prejudice through resort to legal action. State sovereignty is a sham, the veriest humbug that ever imposed upon political gulls; but the States have some local rights, and among those rights no one is more clear than this, that each and every State shall say who shall and who shall not have the right of suffrage within its borders.

Notwithstanding the formidable opposition, Juarez has been re-elected President of Mexico, that is, a majority of "electors" favorable to him have been chosen. He will have many difficulties to surmount, however, in giving a stable government to the country, so many and turbulent are the elements "lying round loose." The successes of the Republic do not appear to have cured the people of the old habit of upsetting whatever has the promise of stability.

STATE ELECTION—OFFICIAL RESULT.

Ohio on the Next Trial.

Senators Sherman and Wade wrote letters to the Cooper Institute meeting in New York. The first named gentleman says "the Republicans of Ohio are not the least discouraged." His language is: "Impartial suffrage and implicit observance of the public faith will next year, as this year, be engraved on our banners, and we will as surely triumph as that God rules." Senator Sherman utters these excellent sentiments: "We must insist upon greater economy in public expenditures. We must enforce our revenue laws. We must cease to quarrel among ourselves." Senator Wade is not less emphatic in expressing his confidence He says:

> "For more than fourteen years Ohio has had a succession of Republican Governors, and she never will have any other. Her recent narrow escape will only have the effect to secure her against future accidents. The Republicans of Ohio were never more radical, more confident of their strength, nor more resolutely determined to carry out their principles to a final triumph than now; and if our election could be held over again to-morrow, warned of our danger, we should carry the State by more than 50,000. We certainly shall do this next fall if we stand firmly by the great and godlike principle of equal and exact justice to all men."

The observer of passing events will not fail to note that the Republican press in New York do not propose to fight the battle in that State this time with negro suffrage on their banner. They are wise enough not to fight that battle beforehand. The Constitutional Convention of New York will re-assemble shortly after the election, and the suffrage question, with others of great importance, will be submitted to the people. The Convention which nominated the Republican State ticket did resolve that suffrage should be impartial; that it is a right which ought not to limited by property or color; but that was before the Ohio election. There would have been—there can be—no embarrassment with "impartial suffrage based on intelligence" for the watch-word: and with the resolution so amended, our political friends in New York would realize less embarrassment, because they would be nearer the popular idea, than they do with the resolution as it stands.

The Philadelphia Inquirer denies the rumor that "a number of the best and most responsible business houses" of that city "have failed." Only two or three failures and these "involving no heavy amount," have taken place. The Inquirer says further:

> Although business just now is depressed in many of its branches, still there is no reason to doubt the stability of the great portion of our mercantile houses. It is true that they made large stocks of goods that have been depreciated to a certain extent, but, as a general rule, they are all able to meet their liabilities whenever they fall due.

In regard to the town of Jackson, Ohio, where all the voters, 409 in number, voted the Democratic ticket, the New York Commercial remarks:

> "We had occasion to travel through that portion of Ohio a few years since, when a colporteur informed us, as the result of his observations and inquiries, that but one in thirty of the people could read, while on an average only one in fifty-five possessed a Bible."

No sermon is required to enforce that text.

In Cincinnati last week Pittsburgh coal afloat, sold at 22 cents, and the retail price, delivered, was 28 cents per bushel. The supply of fuel, says the Gazette, is largely deficient. The low water has prevented shipments from the mines, and the prospect for an early addition to our almost exhausted stock is the reverse of favorable.

McClellan to Run Again.

The Washington dispatch to the Tribune says: "The Democratic managers sent word some time ago to Gen. McClellan to return home, the object for which he was sent to Europe by the party having been accomplished. Accordingly he has, as already noticed, taken passage in the Persia, and will be home in time for the campaign. He is to be the nominee of the party for President, with another ex-military man on the ticket for Vice-President. The slate is all 'fixed,' and it is said by those who ought to know that there is little probability that anything will occur to change it. Great reliance is placed upon the new secret society, 'the Sons of Jackson,' which is being actively recruited in all parts of the country, as an offset to the Grand Army of the Republic."

Hon. Henry W. Williams, true to the patriotic instincts which have ever characterized his life, only expresses the regret that the party of the Union has been defeated in his own defeat. Of course he feels the injustice done him by the refusal or neglect of his party to discharge their duty to a candidate of their own nomination; but instead of giving expression to any ill feelings towards that party, he urges them to rally in their might and drive back the invading foe, as the brave boys in blue drove them from the field of Gettysburg.—Reading Dispatch.

KING'S COLD CREAM SOAP.

King's Cold Cream Soap.
King's Cold Cream Soap.
King's Cold Cream Soap.

Is exceedingly mild. It is particularly adapted for use in frosty weather, as it prevents the hands and face from chapping, and keeps the skin delightfully smooth. We specially invite the attention of the ladies to this article, as it combines the cleansing properties of a fine soap and the healing properties of cold cream, thereby keeping the skin soft and white. Ladies try one cake. Sold only by McCLARRAN & M'KENNAN, Druggists, 85 Market street, cor. Diamond, near Fifth street, Pittsburgh.

INDIGESTION

Is permanently cured by Metcalfe's Anti-Bilious Pills. They also remove all obstructions and the several varieties of Bilious and Liver Complaints. Price 25 cents a box.

Metcalfe's Honey Cough Balm is recommended by the first physicians in New York, when all other medicines fail, as a certain cure for Bronchitis, Sore Throat, and Coughs and Colds of long standing.

Metcalfe's Great Rheumatic Remedy gives immediate relief in all cases of Rheumatism or Neuralgia. Its power is magical, its effect immediate, and it never fails to eradicate every symptom of the disease. Sold by all Druggists.

Metcalfe's Anti-Bilious Pills cure Sick Headache, Indigestion and Bilious Attacks, by carrying off all impure humors and cleansing the blood. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.

Metcalfe's Honey Cough Balm is particularly recommended for children. It cures Coughs, Colds, Croup, Sore Throat and Hooping Cough, is pleasant to the taste, and acts like a charm. For sale by all Druggists.

"Metcalfe, the eminent Pharmaceutist, has discovered a remedy for Rheumatism, which he believes to be infallible. We are personally cognizant of some extraordinary cures it has effected. The price is trifling—one dollar only—and many men would cheerfully give fifty for a certain cure of this dreadful and wide-spread disease. Metcalfe is advertising this remedy in all the leading papers of the country, and the sale of his Great Rheumatic Remedy is already very extensive."—Brooklyn Times.

Gen. Grant and the Presidency.

We gave to the Waynesburg Argus, a few days since, the credit due to the Greensburg Herald, for the article in favor of Gen. Grant for the Presidency. The Herald, in coming out for Grant, is not only in accord with Republican sentiment generally, in a particular nominee, but reflects the views of our friends in that part of the State.

Upon the retirement of Dr. Lieber from the office of rebel Records he wrote to Gen. Grant, congratulating him upon his success, and said that it was rarely that history ever devolved upon one man so many great civil and military responsibilities. He felt it was possible a greater crisis was coming than that which ended in Appomattox Court House, and he prayed he might be strong enough to accept the responsibility. Grant's letter in reply is said to be the most radical he has written. In it he says he trusts he may have strength to answer any responsibility that may devolve upon him. No matter how solemn it may be, he will not hesitate to accept it if the country demands it.

The Reading Dispatch says: Grant is the popular man to-day, and we will not attempt to argue what has made him so; the result of the late elections speak the truth of the matter much more eloquently than the language of any individual. When the war waged the fiercest in the land the aid of Grant was called into requisition, and he succeeded in accomplishing the task given to him of conquering armed rebellion, and now that the Republican party through gross mismanagement has been defeated, he will be called to the head of that party, and be elected President of the United States in 1868.

One night last week a large procession of Tiffin Republicans, headed by a band, proceeded to the residence of Lieutenant Governor Lee, of Ohio, and serenaded him. That gentleman, in response to the call, made a few appropriate remarks, saying, among other things, that he was prepared for the next fight, and felt assured that Ohio was good for 50,000 majority next year for Gen. Grant for President.

Mr. Johnson and the New York Democrats.

A letter from New York says: A Democratic committee, who went to Washington to see President Johnson in regard to the New York election, returned in jubilant mood. The President informed them that it was of the highest importance to the country that New York should be carried by the Democracy, and to that end promised his visitors that everything that could be done on his part to facilitate that result would be done without delay. As Mr. Johnson's visitors meant business, they handed him a list of offices in the Internal Revenue Department principally, which it was in his power to fill with the "right sort of men" at a day's notice. The President looked at it, then said something about the way he was hampered by the Tenure of Office bill, but finally consented to "pursue a vigorous policy," and with that assurance the delegation returned to New York. The question now on all hands is, how or when or where is the "vigorous policy" to begin?

The London Morning Post, of the 4th, says: "It is rumored that Sir Augustus Paget will be transferred from Florence to Washington, and that the Hon. Julian Fane will be promoted to be Minister at Florence. If this be true, Lord Stanley could hardly have made a more judicious selection for the difficult post at Washington. Sir Augustus Paget evinced judgment, tact, and temper, and all the best qualities of a diplomatist, in the arduous negotiations of the Schleswig-Holstein question previous to the Danish war.

THE BANKERS'

AND

MERCHANTS'

GRAND

Presentation Enterprise,

HAS PROVEN

A WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

CAPITAL, TICKETS AND PRIZES

INCREASED FROM

$1,287,148 to $1,500,000

Making this the most Stupendous and Successful Presentation Scheme ever inaugurated in the World.

Our Agents have received orders for over 100,000 Tickets more than our original issue, and the Managers being desirous of filling the orders and supplying the demand, have decided to increase the tickets from 1,287,148 to 1,500,000.

The Committee appointed at the first Concert have decided to distribute the Prizes at the third and last Concert, which will take place at

IRVING HALL,

IN NEW YORK CITY,

ON

Thursday, Oct. 24th, 1867.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH.

A Prize with Every Ticket.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Entertainments of the day, have formed themselves into a company, with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-purchasers than any yet presented; and which being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises.

To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering of the same, to Clark, Webster & Co., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of presents

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the Commercial and Financial standing of the Company, and the Managers and Bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket-holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.

THE BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' FIRST GRAND CONCERT was given at Irving Hall, July 4th. The Second Grand Concert was given August 24th, both of them proving a grand success. The mammoth hall was filled with the most respectable citizens of New York. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants to examine the register of tickets and satisfy themselves of the correctness of the registration before making the grand distribution of prizes on the 24th of October.

Important to Parties Desiring Tickets.

1st. There are but few remaining unsold. Those wishing to be supplied with tickets must order at once.

2d. The distribution of prizes will positively take place on the 24th of October, 1867.

3d. As the books will be closed immediately on the sale of the last ticket, for the purpose of the registration being examined by the Committee, it is important that we should receive orders at the very earliest moment.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

For sale at the Banking House of CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., 62 Broadway, N. Y., or sent by mail on receipt of price and stamp for return postage.

Special Terms or Club Rates.

Any party procuring a Club of five or more names for tickets, and sending us the money for the same, will be allowed the following commission:

We will send

4 Tickets	$3 50
8 Tickets	6 75
12 Tickets	10 00
24 Tickets	19 50
48 Tickets	38 50
100 Tickets	80 00

In order that every subscriber's name may be registered, send the P. O. address, with town, county and State in full.

Money by draft, Postoffice order, express, or in registered letters may be sent at our risk.

All communications must be addressed to

CLARK, WEBSTER & CO.,

No. 62 Broadway, New York.

☞Immediately after the Grand Distribution, a list of the Prizes awarded will be printed and sent to each ticket-holder.

BRICK MACHINE,

MANUFACTURED BY THE

PITTSBURGH BRICK MACHINE

AND

BRICK MANUFACTURING CO.

This Machine takes the clay direct from the bank, (without the preparation, by soaking, necessary for "soft mud" machines), and tempers it thoroughly, pressing, in steel moulds, brick stiff enough to be packed up eight high in the yard as made. For cutting with the trowel, bearing hard usage, and making a strong, true wall, there are no better brick known. The cost of making them by this machine is from 93 cents to $1 10 per 1,000, according to the rates of wages. This we guarantee. The machine is built entirely of iron and steel; and in the best style for strength and permanent use in working clay. Apply for circulars, giving full information, at the office,

CITY MATTERS.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL.—Deputy Sheriff Stubbs, on Saturday, conveyed to Dixmont Hospital George Rowley, adjudged to be insane by the Court a short time since.

TEAMSTER INJURED.—On Saturday, about noon, a carter named Chiverly, while driving a load of sand along Pennsylvania avenue, near the Relief Engine House, fell from his seat, and one of the wheels of the cart passed over his body, injuring him seriously.

TAKEN TO THE PENITENTIARY.—On Saturday afternoon Sheriff Cluley conveyed to the Penitentiary James Johnson and Levi Upton, whose sentences are recorded elsewhere. Also Thos. Jackson, convicted of larceny, and sentenced to three years's imprisonment.

BEAVER DEMOCRACY JUBILATE.—The Democrats of Beaver and adjoining towns had a grand jubilee Friday night at the Alcorn House, Bridgeport. The crowd was addressed in brief by Messrs. Wilson, Coon, Daugherty and Odell. A sumptuous supper, toasts, and music by a string band, were among the entertainments.

ANOTHER PRIZE FIGHT.—Sam Collyer, who left this city last week for New York, for the purpose of preparing for the contemplated fight between himself and Bill Kelly, telegraphed to Johnny Newell, on Saturday, asking him to serve as his trainer. Johnny accepts the "distinguished honor," and will leave for New York this week.

A PITTSBURGH LOCOMOTIVE.—We understand that Messrs. Smith & Porter expect to ship from their work in South Pittsburgh to-day a small locomotive. It has been built for Mr. James Rhodes, of New Castle, to be run on his coal road in that place, and we would call the attention of all needing such machinery or stationary engines to this work of Messrs. S. & P., and to their work generally.

EXCURSION.—The Lodge of Good Templars in our neighboring town of Washington purpose to go to Claysville on next Thursday evening to organize a Lodge there. They have chartered the train on the Hempfield Railroad, and an address on the subject of temperance will be delivered at Claysville by Rev. W. B. Watkins, pastor of the M. E. Church at Washington. They are anticipating a pleasant time.

EXCITING FOOT RACE.—An exciting foot race took place in East Birmingham on Saturday afternoon, between Joseph Davis and Benjamin Trimber. The distance run was one hundred and twenty yards, Trimber giving Davis ten yards of a start. Trimber stumbled coming in, and Davis was declared the winner. The champion pedestrian, John Newell, acted as referee.

MRS. LINCOLN'S JEWELRY.—Messrs. Smithson, Palmer & Co., auction and commission merchants, 55 and 57 Fifth street, have secured the diamond cluster enamel brooch and earrings, belonging to the collection recently left by Mrs. Lincoln with Mr. Brady, New York, to be disposed of by him. These jewels are estimated to be worth fifteen hundred dollars. They will be on exhibition at the warerooms of Messrs. Smithson, Palmer & Co., to-day.

CHOKED TO DEATH.—Thomas Jenkins, a bricklayer by occupation, residing at No. 150 Pike street, near Factory, was choked to death on Friday evening, at the supper table—a piece of meat having lodged in his throat. His wife observed him as soon as strangulation commenced, but she was unable to relieve him and sent for a physician. When the doctor arrived the man was dead. He was about forty-three years of age, and leaves a wife and two children.

HORSE THIEVES OPERATING.—It has become a very common practice for sharpers to hire horses and buggies from livery stable keepers, under the pretence of going a short distance into the country, and afterwards neglecting to return the property. Chief of Police Scott was notified on Saturday of two such instances which occurred at Cleveland recently. If the livery men would conform to the rule they have adopted, of making strangers give references before placing their horses and vehicles in their hands, they would save themselves considerable trouble and loss, and soon break up the practice.

SEVERE FALL.—Mr. Wm. Carson, of Deer Creek, met with a severe accident at the depot of the Western Pennsylvania Road, in Allegheny, on Saturday afternoon. He visited the depot for the purpose of sending his son, aged about six years, home on the four o'clock accommodation train. Upon his arrival the train was moving slowly from the depot, when he ran along the platform in order to overtake it. Before arriving at the cars, however, he fell through the trestle-work to the ground beneath, a distance of ten or twelve feet, injuring his neck and shoulders severely. He was removed to the residence of a friend on Federal street, and Dr. Rankin sent for, who attended to his injuries.

THE QUAKER CITY OIL REFINERY.—A dispatch dated Pittsburgh, October 18th, appears in the New York papers, asserting that the property of the Quaker City Oil Refinery had been seized by the Government for alleged frauds on the revenue. The dispatch had evidently been sent from Philadelphia, and its being dated "Pittsburgh" was doubtless a mere typographical error, as appears from the following dispatch, under date of Philadelphia, October 19th: "The proprietors of the Quaker City Oil Refinery, located here, deny the truth of the dispatch from Pittsburgh that there has been a seizure of their property by the government. No frauds have been alleged against the refinery."

THE COMING SCULLING CONTEST.—The sculling race, which has been announced to take place on Wednesday, of next week, between Henry Coulter, of Allegheny city, and John Mekiel, of Cold Spring, New York, is creating considerable interest, and although the upper course of the Monongahela river has been selected, a large crowd will be in attendance from the city. Coulter has been in active training since the acceptance of the challenge, George Speer and other members of the Xanthe Boat Club, furnishing him all the aid and assistance he requires. They are also building a new boat house, which will be finished in a day or two, when it will be taken to Glenwood and used by Coulter as his headquarters. Mekiel who is also in active training, will arrive here during the present week, and will locate himself in a farm house near Glenwood.

Sale of Liberty Street Property.

On Saturday, by order of the Administrator of the estate of A. Laughlin, deceased, Mr. J. D. Bailey, auctioneer, disposed of two valuable lots of ground, Nos. 255 and 257 Liberty street, twenty-two and a half feet front, each, by one hundred and ten feet deep, and each containing a three story brick building. No. 255 was purchased by Messrs. R. Robinson & Co., for $28,900, and No. 257 by Messrs. Voight & Co., for $28,025. On this latter property there is a ground rent of three dollars per year for one inch of ground occupied by J. Painter's lot. The purchasers now occupy the property respectively, and are among our most enterprising and successful merchants. The prices paid may be regarded as high figures, but, at the present rate of enhancement on our principal business thoroughfares, the purchasers have certainly secured a bargain. There will be no "go back" in real estate on Liberty street.

Extensive Robbery of Watches and Diamonds.

A bold and successful robbery was perpetrated a few days since on a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Pittsburgh and Altoona. It appears that a gentleman who was en route from St. Louis to Baltimore, had in his possession about twenty thousand dollars' worth of watches and diamonds, which, for safe keeping, he placed in a carpet sack, which he carried with him. He reached this city from Cincinnati by the Pan Handle route, and immediately took the train for Baltimore. Soon after the train started he became drowsy, and placing the carpet bag under his head, fell asleep. He awoke when near Altoona, and upon opening the bag was surprised to find that the valuables had disappeared, and their places supplied with packages of rice and sugar. The carpet sack had been exchanged for one almost exactly similar, and it was also evident that the thief had prepared it for the purpose. How or when the change was made is not known, but the gentleman supposes that he was followed from St. Louis or Cincinnati by some party who knew that he had the property in his possession, and adopted this method to dispossess him of it. Chief of Police Long, of Allegheny, has been apprized of the robbery, by Baltimore detectives, and in case he succeeds in unearthing the thief and recovering the stolen goods, will be the recipient of a large reward.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—This evening, Mr. F. S. Chanfrau, the favorite comedian, will commence a brief engagement, appearing as "Robert Brierly," the "Ticket-of-Leave Man." He will be assisted by the popular young comedian C. T. Parsloe, Jr., who will appear as "Melter Moss." To-morrow evening, Mr. Chanfrau will personate his great specialty, "Sam," Mr. Parsloe personating the very funny "Jenkinsi." The patrons of the drama who have felt surfeited with the legitimate and sensational, will have an opportunity of enjoying elegant and amusing comedy this week, and they should improve it. Mr. Chanfrau is one of the best comedians on the stage, and during his stay we look for "The Toodles."

DAN. RICE IS COMING.—This announcement is sufficient to awaken anxiety in the minds of the rising generation—aye, and old heads, too. Dan is now winding up his farewell traveling tour, and he proposes to make the home of his boyhood and early manhood the scene of his final appearance in the ring as clown. Dan's Great Show and School of Educated Animals will be exhibited on the Red Lion Lot, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 31st and November 1st and 2d.

HARRY OVERINGTON.—Owing to the failure of certain arrangements, the opening of Harry Overington's new place of amusement has been postponed. In the meantime a number of his friends have tendered him a benefit, which will take place at the Old Theater, on Thursday evening next. A great bill of attraction is promised.

State Christian Convetion.

This Convention of the Christians of all Evangelical denominations in Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia, is to assemble to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, at 7½ o'clock, in the First Presbyterian Church, on Wood, near Sixth street, for organization and prayer. During Wednesday, Wednesday evening and Thursday, very important questions relating to individual and co-operative Christian effort, will be discussed. On Thursday evening the anniversary exercises of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held. On Wednesday and Thursday the noon-day prayer meeting will be temporarily removed for convenience to the place of the sessions of the Convention.

Messrs. George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, D. L. Moody, of Chicago, H. Thane Miller, of Cincinnati, and A. K. Burnell, of Milwaukee, have promised to be present and will participate in the proceedings. The public is most cordially invited to be present through all the sessions and the exercises.

The Convention will undoubtedly be a very large one, but we regret to announce that the number of accommodations reported is not two-thirds of the number of delegates who have already advised of their coming, besides the much larger number who will attend without previous announcement to the Committee. An earnest appeal is therefore made to the Christian public that those who can offer the hospitalities of their homes, send their names, residences, &c., at once to the Church Committees of the Young Men's Christian Association in the respective churches, or to A. B. Riggs, Secretary, at the Association Rooms, 23 Fifth street. Those who prefer it may entertain delegates at the hotels under special arrangements made by the Association. As entertainment is only asked for three days, we earnestly hope that this appeal for so catholic and deserving an object will not come in vain to the well known and warm hearted hospitality of Pittsburgh. The Church Committees hold their final meeting for report on accommodations, at the Association Rooms this afternoon at four o'clock. On the 25th and 26th inst., the Allegheny County Sabbath School Teachers' Institute, also held their Annual Convention in Christ Methodist Episcopal church, on Penn street.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In reply to a card bearing my name, and published in this morning's papers by Smith & Cowley, of the Iron City College, I desire to say that said card was written about three years ago, under false impressions of their College. Soon after giving it I found I was deceived, and, not desiring to injure them by a counter statement, I sent them a private notification that I withdrew it, and requested them not to publish it. They now compel me to say, publicly, that their course of business education is not to be compared with that given in Duff's Mercantile College. I leave the public to judge of the merits of an institution whose principals use private names in this unwarrantable manner. Very respectfully,
C. C. COCHRAN.

BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN RESIDENCE, near Highland Avenue, Collins Township, at auction, on Monday evening, October 28th, at 8 o'clock, at Masonic Hall Auction Rooms, 55 and 57 Fifth street. For particulars our readers are referred to advertisement in auction column.

We have no hesitation whatever in affirming, that notwithstanding all that has been said and written in relation to other localities, after all Penn street is still, as it always has been the most desirable street in the city of Pittsburgh, and on no other street is property appreciating so rapidly in value. It is but seldom that our readers have an opportunity of obtaining property on this desirable street at any figure. We are lead to make these remarks from reading the advertisement of John D. Baily, Auctioneer, who will sell this afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the premises of that valuable property, commencing at the line of Dr. Sterrett's premises, and extending up Penn street 60 feet to the United States property, having a depth of 160 feet to Fayette street, on which is two three story brick dwellings, and one two-story brick dwelling. The extensive front and great depth of these lots make them very desirable for either church purposes, or for a house of public amusement. Doubtless the competition for this magnificent property will be great, and whoever obtains it can congratulate himself on being the possessor of a property which as an investment cannot be surpassed in this city.

BRONCHITIS.—A treatise on Bronchitis, by E. S. Aborn, M. D., of 134 Smithfield street. Free by mail.

Hearing Restored.

A present grand juryman says: I cheerfully certify that a year or two ago I was afflicted with a discharge from the ears which was soon followed by deafness. I was induced to apply to Dr. Aborn, of No. 134 Smithfield street, on the recommendation of one of his patients, and within the space of one month I have quite recovered. In the course of his treatment he neither resorted to cutting, probing nor any painful operation. It gives me great pleasure to say that he is a gentleman worthy of high consideration in his special branch of medical science,
MAX. W. CORNELIUS,
Grand Juryman.

Systems Run Down.

Persons often allow their systems to "run down," or rather run them down by over work, accompanied by a neglect of the proper means of invigoration. The result is what is called "GENERAL DEBILITY;" in other words, a failure and partial collapse of the physical forces, accompanied usually by great depression of spirits.

The best remedy in such cases is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Whether the state of exhaustion has been brought on by excessive physical labor, dissipation, anxiety of mind, exposure, or any other cause, the remedial effect of this great stomachic will be found equally prompt and certain. As a restorative, after severe sickness has prostrated the bodily and mental energies, it is pronounced by competent medical authorities, "THE BEST TONIC IN USE." If men were not foolishly careless about their health, and over confident in themselves, they would always, when engaged in any work that required great exertion, use corresponding means of sustaining their strength. For this purpose HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are invaluable. All toilers should use them as an invigorant.

For those constantly employed in in-door occupations, especially in crowded workshops, they may be reckoned as the very best safeguard of health. Where there is a predisposition to constipation, or a tendency to biliousness, they may be truly said to be a specific for which there is no substitute.

DIED:

CLARKE—At his residence in Oakland, near Pittsburgh, at 4 o'clock P. M., on Saturday, the 19th of October 1867, THOMAS S. CLARKE, in the sixty-seventh year of his age.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, Oct. 19, 1867.

The local money market, in common sympathy with the condition of those at the Eastern financial centers, has during the past week ruled very close, and rates were high and firm, and the general tone not buoyant or hopeful. The case that was expected to set in after the last bank statement seems postponed, and there is fully as tight a money market now as that which preceded "quarter" week. It is the settled policy of the banks here, as well as in other cities, to keep themselves unmistakably in a strong position by observing the rigid letter of the law under which they exist, and borrowers have been taught that "no expectation of forbearance or indulgence can be encouraged"—that favor and benevolence are not the attributes of good banking"—that they must conform their wants to suit a more contracted line of discounts, and be ready to lean more on their resources and less on bank accommodations.

—The magnitude of the counterfeit 7-30 bond fraud is steadily developing itself. From a special dispatch we learn that where these bonds have been traced to the original, responsible holder or banker, it is ascertained by detectives that some unknown man, disguised, of course, and using an assumed character, sold the bonds to said responsible person, bank, banker or broker, whilst other parties made off with the proceeds of the sales. It is estimated that Baltimore capitalists lost about $25,000; Philadelphia, $250,000; New York, $400,000; Cincinnati, $64,000; Boston, $150,000; Louisville, $150,000; St. Louis, $200,000, and Chicago $150,000. This estimate reaches nearly $1,100,000. Other large cities in the North and South have yet to be estimated, but the figures from the Southern cities it is thought will be large.

—Government bonds in the New York market to-day were a shade better.

The quotations to Messrs McVay & Co. and James T. Brady & Co. show the following slight advance over yesterday:

U. S. 6s 1881	111⅝
U. S. 5-20s, 1862	111⅛
U. S. 5-20s, 1864	108⅛
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, May and November	108⅜
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, January and July	106⅞
10-40s	100
December Compounds, 1864	[illegible]
June 7-30s	104⅜
July 7-30s	104⅜
Gold	141⅛
U. S. 5-20s, 1867	105⅞

—In the general stock market the Herald says Wall street is perfectly befogged as to its probable immediate future. It is so cliqued that all experience goes for nothing in forming an opinion. It is, however, generally conceded that if the props which now sustain it were withdrawn there would be a break down of more than ordinary force and magnitude. The bears would gloat like vultures upon the wreck of the present bull movement, and it would be long before the debris would be cleared away preparatory to another such launch on the sea of speculation. But the bull cliques hold on to their stocks with bloodhound tenacity, and they deserve credit for their pluck and perseverance. They combine the two qualities of Brag and Holdfast in a remarkable degree; but the Stock Exchange is a vortex which swallows up the boldest and most skillful as well as the most timid of the navigators who venture upon its treacherous tide, and just now the bulls are exposed to no common danger from the growing scarcity of money.

—The Commercial Advertiser says the bears, however, are very cautious, and sell only to "cover" within a day or two. The apparent strength of the bull clique, and their independence of the stringency in money, is due to their having made time loans extending forward for yet twenty to thirty days; the bear operators begin to comprehend this state of things, and are disposed to hold off until the expiration of the bull money contracts puts both sides on the same level.

—At Cincinnati the Enquirer Saturday remarks in its financial column that the demand for loans to-day was not so pressing, though the applications are still on a liberal scale, and there is more paper offering than the banks are able or care to discount. There is still a considerable amount of accommodation paper offering. Rates of interest remain firm, though no change has taken place. In the open market 12@15 per cent. are still the leading figures for unexceptionable names and good mercantile bills, though depositors are supplied to some extent at 10 per cent. On the street, rates range from 1½ to 2 per cent. a month. Business is still inactive in nearly all departments, and the merchants are in many cases obliged to borrow to meet their accruing obligations. There is no speculative paper offering.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE OIL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, October 21, 1867.

BUSINESS—The market remains very unsettled, with a declining tendency in both crude and refined, notwithstanding the long continued suspension of navigation. The crude market was dull, with a downward tendency, the principal stock on hand being in tank. We learned of a sale on Friday of tank oil, 41 gravity, at 12½c. This is certainly a low figure. The week's receipts of crude, from all points, were 2,377 bbls, against 2,895 bbls received the week previous—a falling off amounting to 518 bbls.

The week's exports East by the Pennsylvania Central and the Allegheny Valley Railroad were 13,461 bbls, against 13,376 for the week previous. Pretty even that.

The entire receipts of crude at this point from all sources, from the 1st of January to date, were 669,774 bbls. For the same period in 1866 the receipts were 947,555 bbls, showing a deficiency this year of 277,721 bbls. This, of course, is owing to the low stage of water in the Allegheny. Notwithstanding the deficiency in receipts, the rates of crude in October, 1866, were about the present figures, whilst refined oil was selling for November and December delivery at 38@39c ₩ gallon—a wide difference from the present rates, although the crude rates show about the same.

The week's sales of crude were 12,665 barrels, against 11,455 barrels for the week ending on the 12th. Refined—the week's sales were 32,000 barrels, against 28,500 barrels for the previous week. The total sales this week were 44,665 barrels, against 39,955 for the week previous, being an increase of 4,650 barrels.

Below will be found a condensed account of the week's operation:

Monday—The market opened dull, with a limited demand. The sales were 3,200 barrels bulk, spot oil, 14c; for October delivery, S O, 13½c ₩ gall.

Tuesday—The entire sales were 200 barrels, at 13½c, barrels returned.

Wednesday—The market was entirely bare of oil, 50 barrels comprised the day's operations in crude, at 13c, being a decline of ½c ₩ gall.

Thursday—Market opened dull and closed the same way. A lot of 2,000 barrels was disposed of, for all year delivery, at 11½c—a further decline.

Friday—The sales comprised 2,149 barrels, in lots, at various prices. The best offer for November was 11½c; a 1,000 barrel lot was sold at 12½c for 41 gravity. We have seldom noticed less disposition to operate than was exhibited during the week just closed. Sellers of crude, for October delivery, are begining to exhibit a little anxiety for a rise. The day for settlement is near at hand.

Saturday—The market was not very active. The Eastern markets were in better condition, with a slight advance in prices, particularly for November delivery. The Eastern prices were: Philadelphia—Prime light straw to white 33½c; standard white 34½c; crude 21½c, half cent advance.

New York—Prime light straw to white 33c; standard white 34c; crude 20½c.

Oil City market dull; sales 6,000 bbls at $3 70 ₩ bbl, to go to Cleveland. In our own market we are reported the following sales: Crude—Sales 1,000 bbls bulk, on the spot, at 13½c; sales 3,000 bbls do, on the spot, at 13½c; sales 100 bbls, barrels returned, at 16½c; sales 150 bbls and 400 bbls do, part to arrive, at 17c, barrels returned. Other lots were under consideration, but had not been consummated up to the close.

REFINED OIL—Saturday's transactions foot up to 5,500 bbls standard white Philadelphia delivery at an advance over the previous day's transactions of one-half cent per gallon. We note the following: 1,000 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, November, buyer's option, at 35c; 1,000 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, November, buyer's option, at 35c, and 500 bbls do, November, buyer's option, at 35c per gallon; sales 2,000 bbls standard white Philadelphia; 500 bbls, November; 500 bbls, December; 500 bbls, January, 1868; 500 bbls, February, 1868, at 33½c; sales 1,000 bbls standard white Philadelphia, buyer's option, at 35c.

PHILADELPHIA.

There has been less doing in petroleum during the past week, and prices are unsettled and lower: 5000 barrels of crude sold at 21½@21¾c; 20,000 barrels of refined in bond at 33@33½c for prime light straw to white, and 34@35½c for standard white. Free oil sells in small lots at 48@50c ₩ gallon.

The receipts during the week were 5,200 barrels crude and 10,350 barrels refined. The exports were 686,878 gallons refined and 129,227 gallons crude. Total export since January 1st, 1867, 23,287,958 gallons, against 19,751,814 gallons same time last year.

NEW YORK.

Crude continues in good demand, says the Shipping List, and the market has ruled steady, closing at 11½c in bulk. The sales are 5000 barrels in bulk at 12½@13c; 3500 do 40@47 gravity in shipping order, at 20c; 300 do 40@45 gravity, 20½@21c. Refined in bond was dull until yesterday, when there was a little more inquiry, and the market closed steady at 33½c for S.W. [illegible]

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—[illegible]

[illegible]

AS GOOD AS NEW.—The fine packet Delaware is undergoing a thorough and complete repair. A few days since she was purchased by Captain S. Calhoun especially for the Pittsburgh and Nashville trade. Since that time the Captain has devoted his undivided time to putting her in complete order. Mr. Boggs is doing one of his best jobs of painting; that is saying a good deal. Besides, the Captain is introducing various improvements that will add materially to the comfort of the passengers. Capt. Calhoun is a veteran in the Nashville trade. His friends will be pleased to see him on the track again in command of so fine a packet as the Delaware. She will leave for Clarksville and Nashville on the opening of navigation.

ST. LOUIS, October 18.—The prospects for navigation are becoming more gloomy. To Keokuk there are only three feet eight inches in some places, and the decline continues here and at all points above. Smaller boats are preparing to take the place of the large boats now running between this port and Keokuk. The Rob Roy has laid up and chartered her barge to the Abeona, now loading for New Orleans. The Glen Allen having abandoned the Missouri, probably loads for New Orleans. The Huntsville, among the last of the Montana boats, has arrived below Omaha with numerous passengers. She is a very light stern-wheeler, and owned by a former Cincinnati pilot.

A SPECIAL dispatch to the St. Louis Republican, dated St. Louis, October 16, says:

The Underwriter arrived at this port to-day, and leaves for St. Louis to-morrow. She has removed over four hundred snags from the channel of the river between here and Omaha, but her officers think there is work enough to keep her employed for a year to come.

The Evening Star and Walter B. Dance are reported above, making slow progress on account of low water. One of them has unloaded a portion of her freight near Lafayette.

The J. H. Lacey snagged and sunk near Brownsville, last week. She was worth $40,000 and was insured for $20,000 in five different offices in Cincinnati.

The quantity of goods being shipped up the river from this point is greater than at any previous season. The Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad is doing an immense carrying business, and the regular packet line between here and Omaha is unable to carry all the freight which arrives here.

THE Memphis Bulletin says:

The river continues on a slow decline at this point. We learn of no material change in the channel. On Phillips's bar there is barely five feet of water, but on other shoal places hence to St. Louis, the depth is five feet large. The Columbian left the G. A. Thompson aground at Lafayette.

Arkansas River affords only twenty inches of water on the bar below Little Rock, and White River about forty inches at Little Island. St. Francis River is navigable only to Jeffersonville.

The Mississippi, at St. Louis, is falling, but the sandbars are cut out in the channel as fast as the water falls, and the bars are actually less formidable than when the river was a little higher.

The usual brisk business of Tuesday was not apparent on the levee yesterday, and its absence can be accounted for only by the exaggerated reports of sickness which have been spread through the country. The local packets got fair trips of freight, but comparatively few passengers were to be seen. The weather continues clear and pleasant, rather of the Indian summer order.

THE New Orleans Crescent says:

The delightful weather which has been experienced for the past week still continues. Yesterday morning opened with the thermometer ranging about 67 deg., but the atmosphere became warmer as the day advanced.

Business continues dull on the landing. The steamer General Quitman arrived about 12 o'clock, yesterday, with 1,547 bales of cotton and other produce. The Henry Atkins, Fannie Gilbert, Alone, and Thomas Powell were also included in the arrivals.

The steamer Flicker, hence for Shreveport, was laid up at Rosa Plantation on account of sickness. Her clerk, Mr. Samuel Taylor, died on the 7th, from an attack of yellow fever, and the Captain, Geo. E. Wilkinson, with several of the crew, were prostrated with the disease at the time the Gilbert passed that point.

Mr. George Brouder, pilot of the Fannie Gilbert, died of yellow fever on the last trip hence to Shreveport.

AN ELEGANT STEAMBOAT.—A correspondent of the Gospel Banner, of Augusta, Maine, gives the following description of the Bristol, one of the elegant boats in the New York and Bristol line:

"Above the ordinary saloon deck, with state-rooms, there is another tier of state-rooms running the whole length of the lower saloon, with an ample walk all around like the balcony of a theater, down from which one can look into the saloon below. The saloons are high, and the finish of the whole is in graceful curves, with fine frescoing. There is a promenade deck outside of the state-rooms, and passageways at intervals of every twenty-five feet, connecting from the saloon to this deck. Each boat contains two hundred and forty state-rooms, including eight bridal rooms furnished in the most sumptuous manner, at an expense for the eight rooms which must exceed $10,000. Indeed, all the berths in the cabins below are but so many state-rooms enclosed with doors with fine glass panels, and the entire boat in all its parts is lighted with gas. In short, the finest hotel in the land is not more elegant or more sumptuous in its dining room arrangements, its bill of fare, and all else necessary for luxury and convenience, than are the accommodations of these boats."

THE Louisville Courier has for some time past been endeavoring to break down barge lines. The insurance companies of that city have recently refused to insure freight shipped on barges. The Louisville Democrat of Wednesday takes up the subject and treats it with candor, as follows:

The insurance companies here are doing more to injure the shipping interests of our city, and to damage the steamboat men, than barge lines will ever do. Look at the facts. The action of the insurance agents in that city has done more towards taking trade to it, and increasing business, than anything else that could have been done. And while it was the cause of introducing barge lines, it injured the common interests of steamboats, yet added materially to the trade and commerce of that flourishing city. St. Louis is flourishing, and what is Louisville doing? Comparatively nothing. The river is low, our city is hemmed in on all sides, with no outlet but railroads, and the directors put their insurance men on the alert to take advantage of the condition of affairs, while they laugh in their sleeves at the net we are trying hard to wriggle out of. Now that the insurance companies have "shut down" on insuring on freight shipped on barges, and just at a time when our merchants had use for their services, we say let them "shut down" for good, and keep out barge lines, so that the steamboats can make a living. When the river is up we'll have no need of their assistance, and if we do Cincinnati is close by, where insurance companies never close doors against their friends in an hour of need, and then dispose of them with a smile on their countenance when they know they are safe.
